R. A. F. HURLS BACK 400 NAZI PLANES

ITALY LOSES 15 AIRCRAFT IN LIBYA

More Than 100 German Airmen Sent To Death

Enemy Losses In Raids On British Shipping Thursday Now Officially Placed At Sixty Planes

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 9—Germany sacrificed 60 planes, Junkers dive bombers and Messerschmitt fighters, to sink two ships totalling 2,540 tons in the big air battle over the English Channel yesterday.

Three other ships in the same convoy were sunk by German E-boats but they only totalled 2,500 tons. This surface attack was made in the darkness and one of the mosquito boats was sunk by a naval escorting vessel and another was damaged.

The convoy, consisting of 20 to 25 ships, was under air attack for 14 hours, the Germans using at least 400 planes that attacked in waves.

Seven of the ships were damaged but all were taken to port. Only two of them were over 1,000 tons.

The admiralty ridiculed German claims that 67,000 tons of shipping was sunk by plane and E-boats, insisting the correct total is 5,039.

R.A.F. LOSES 16

The Royal Air Force lost 16 fighters. It was the biggest attack on shipping since the outbreak of war.

The convoy was protected by balloons, it was learned today, but whether they were towed by merchant ships or naval escort vessels could not be learned. Officials of the admiralty and the air ministry are considering what effect they had on the German dive bombers.

TWO BOMBERS DOWNED

Two German bombers were shot down today, one by anti-aircraft fire after it had bombed a northeast coastal town, and the other by three Spitfires off the northeast coast. Three of the crew of the second Nazi plane were captured in a rubber boat.

Authoritative sources said they believed that in addition to the 60 German planes known to have been shot down, at least 10 others probably never reached home.

More than 100 Nazi pilots, observers and air gunners went to flaming death in the Royal Air Force counter-fire.

The Germans appeared in numbers unprecedented for this war, attacking over and over again all day long in forces of 80 each, and loosing thousands of bombs.

British fighter planes, meeting the greatest assault ever made on these islands, threw up for the mainland a shield which was not broken.

It was their biggest bag and more than doubled their previous

WHEAT CROP 87 PER CENT OF AVERAGE

Production For 1940 Estimated At 22,880,000 Bushels

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—The condition of the spring wheat crop in Canada on July 31 was 87 per cent of the long-time average yield per acre, the Dominion bureau of statistics estimated in a crop report issued today. This represented a deterioration of five points from June 30.

At 87 per cent, however, the crop condition was only two points below the condition as of July 31 last year.

Coarse grains in Canada declined appreciably from the June 30 condition and, with the exception of spring rye, are about the same as last year. The condition of other field crops, including peas, beans, buckwheat, potatoes, roots and sugar beets, showed little change during July and was slightly higher than a year ago.

Hay and clover meadows and pastures declined slightly during the month but their condition remained considerably above that at July 31 last year.

WHEAT PRODUCTION

The production of fall wheat for 1940 is estimated at 22,880,000 bushels compared with the 1939 crop of 22,271,000 bushels. While the yield per acre of fall wheat is below that of last year, an increased acreage accounts for this year's higher production.

Fall rye production for the whole of Canada is estimated at 10,710,000 bushels, a decrease of 1,468,000 bushels from last year's crop, the reduction resulting from a considerably smaller acreage. The total yield of the first cutting of alfalfa in 1940 is placed at 1,620,000 tons compared with 1,534,000 tons last year.

During July the condition of field crops in Manitoba and Saskatchewan declined, but in Alberta gains in condition were recorded. Heat and insufficient rainfall during the first two weeks of July, as well as low soil moisture reserves, were responsible for the decline in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. On the other hand, except in the extreme south, crop conditions in Alberta steadily improved during the month.

Replaces Loss

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Garfield Weston, formerly of Toronto and member of the British parliament for Macclesfield, today gave Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production, a cheque for £100,000 ($445,000), to replace the 16 Royal Air Force fighter planes lost in yesterday's English Channel battle in which 60 German aircraft were shot down.

The gift was announced by the ministry of Aircraft production which said the Canadian presents to the ministry "16 Hurricanes and Spitfires to replace the total losses sustained by Britain in Thursday's battle over the English channel."

For that purpose, the announcement added, Mr. Weston handed over his cheque with the remark: "The pilots we cannot replace."

Several months ago Mr. Weston supplied radio sets for members of the 1st Division, Canadian Active Service Force.

ANOTHER UNIT N.P.A.M. WILL BE RECRUITED

Major W. A. de Graves, D.S.O., To Command Corps Petrol Park

Edmonton will be headquarters for another unit of the Non-Permanent Active Militia which will be recruited to war-time strength immediately, Lt.-Col. E. Brown M.M., area commandant announced Friday.

Authority arrived today for the establishment here of a Corps Petrol Park of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, with a complement of fifteen officers and 512 other ranks. The unit will be under the command of Major W. A. de Graves, D.S.O. and recruiting will start this evening at Room 46, Prince of Wales Armouries.

The Petrol Park is a mechanical transport unit charged with supplying tanks and first line units with gas and oil in the field. In emergency ammunition is also transported. Men required will be car drivers, truck drivers, mechanics, motorcyclists, and garage tradesmen.

The Edmonton unit will be part of the 1 Second Corps Troops, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, which has its headquarters in Calgary, and is commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Lon Cavanaugh.

When mobilized the Petrol Park will consist of three transport sections, a mobile workshop section, anti-aircraft machine gun section, motorcycle section, anti-tank gun section, and headquarters section.

WAR VETERAN IS INJURED IN FALL FROM HORSE

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

DAWSON CREEK, B.C., Aug. 9.—Jack J. Walker, Great War veteran and prominent member of the executive of the local branch of the Canadian Legion was seriously injured last night when he was thrown from his horse on his farm five miles west of here. He landed on his head and is suffering from a dislocated vertebrae in the neck and possibly other injuries.

Mr. Walker walked to his house after the accident and hitched up a team and drove to a neighbor, who immediately went to Reasbeck's farm for a car. He was brought to the Dawson Creek hospital where Dr. McKee is attending him.

JAPAN ROTARY CLUB IS UNDER SURVEILLANCE

By H. O. THOMPSON

TOKYO, Aug. 9—The Japan Rotary club, with 47 affiliates in Japan and Manchukuo, has been under official surveillance since the arrest of numerous prominent Britons on suspicion of espionage, it was understood today.

Britain Will Move Troops From N. China

Tommies Will Be Transferred To New Bases In Far East, London Says.

By FREDERICK KUH
British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Aug. 9—Great Britain today ordered withdrawal of British troops from Shanghai and North China for transfer elsewhere in the far east following a "request" for such action understood to have been made by Japan.

The British government, engaged in a life and death struggle in Europe and in serious dispute with Japan, was understood to have decided in principle on the troop withdrawal about two months ago. Britain has between 2,000 and 3,000 troops in Shanghai, Peiping and Tientsin.

It was stated that the Japanese made the "request" to Britain simultaneously with Japanese demands (later accepted) for closing of the Burma road and otherwise cutting off supplies to the Chinese.

Britain informed the United States, which has forces stationed in Shanghai, of the decision, but there was no indication here whether United States troops would be available in the future to patrol the British sector of the international settlement.

There are French soldiers and several hundred Italian troops in the Shanghai international settlement. The Italians would risk capture by the British navy if removed.

A Chinese spokesman said the British decision to withdraw was of "minor importance" but it was another move in the direction of Japanese control of the settlement.

Regarded By Japan As Expected Movement

By H. O. THOMPSON
British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

TOKYO, Aug. 9—The withdrawal of British troops from China was regarded by Japanese today as an expected development but it generally was believed that the future status of American and Italian forces in Shanghai would be of greatest importance in Japan's campaign to restrict foreign influence in the Far East.

The British withdrawal, of which the British embassy notified the

Casualties Are Heavy In Jap Bombing Raid

British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 9—A fleet of one hundred Japanese planes raided the Chinese capital today, causing an estimated 1,000 casualties principally among the civilians who fled to the shelters in dugouts. The Japanese raiders dropped incendiary bombs which set fire to six areas within the walled city. The modern suburbs on the bank of the Yangtze river and on the north bank of the Chialing were also hit.

The American Methodist Mission Middle school was badly damaged and the Physics Building was destroyed.

P. A. CHESTER APPOINTED TO MILITARY POST

General Manager Of Hudson's Bay Company To Succeed Elkins

OTTAWA, Aug. 9—P. A. Chester, of Winnipeg, general manager of the Hudson's Bay Company, has been appointed acting master general of the ordnance, the national defence department announced today. He succeeds Maj.-Gen. W. H. P. Elkins, recently appointed head of the Atlantic military command.

Mr. Chester's services have been made available to the government for a limited period without charge by the company. He will assume his military rank but will have the full charge of the expanding ordnance services of the Canadian army.

NEW DEPARTURE

The appointment marks a new departure in that it brings a businessman into high military post for the first time. The position of master general of the ordnance calls for a high degree of organizing ability and Mr. Chester's experience in large scale merchandizing will be of value.

The ordnance branch is responsible for all clothing and equipment for the fighting forces, guns, tanks, armoured cars, signalling and medical equipment, everything from huge machines to tooth brushes.

SERVED IN FRANCE

The new master general of ordnance served in the British army in the first Great War. He served in the ranks of the 9th Battalion, King's Royal Rifles in August, 1914, and afterwards commissioned in France until 1919 with the exception of two short periods when he was wounded. He left the army with the rank of captain.

Joining the staff of the Hudson's Bay Company in 1923 he was appointed general manager for all the company's operations in North America in 1930.

Bank Is Robbed

MONTREAL, Aug. 9—A branch of the Banque Provinciale Du Canada just around the corner from a police station was robbed today by an armed bandit who escaped with approximately $1,000 in $5 and $10 bank notes.

British Force Outnumbered In Big Air Battle

R. A. F. Gloucester Gladiator Fighters Triumph In Clash Near Sidi Omar—Two British Planes Lost

By JAN YINDRICH
British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

CAIRO, Aug. 9—British fighter planes, outnumbered two to one, have downed 15 Italian fighter planes in the biggest air battle of the middle east, Royal Air Force middle east headquarters asserted today. Two British planes failed to return.

Gloucester Gladiator fighters, single seat multi-gun bi-planes, met the Italians in the neighborhood of Sidi Omar, over the Italian Libyan desert, a communique said. Their batteries, four machine guns each, went into action and, according to the communique, triumphed.

According to official estimates the British victory brought the total of Italian planes downed in the near east to 135 definitely with 65 "probably" shot down.

Today's War Moves

By J. W. T. MASON

YESTERDAY'S attack by German airmen and armed launches against a British coastal convoy represents a secondary phase in the Battle of Britain. It may be called the Battle of the Channel, and like previous Channel offensives by German aviators, the purpose is to disorganize British coastal communications centering around London.

The attacked convoy was not bringing supplies from overseas, because the channel ports are no longer used as import terminals. The vessels were distributing goods from other British ports. In an emergency this freight could be carried by rail and motor trucks, but to do so would place a great burden on the British land transport system. So the risk has been undertaken for some time of utilizing coastwise shipping, despite the dangerous proximity of German bases along the French coast.

The Germans are hoping to make the channel as unsafe for coastal

National Guard Will Remain In United States

HYDE PARK, N.Y., Aug. 9—President Roosevelt said at a press conference today the selling orders were 100 to 1 that the National Guard never would have to go outside the limits of the United States during the coming 10 peace years.

He made the statement in discussing with newspapermen the recommendation he has before congress that he be permitted to call out the guard and organized reserves for federal service whether or not Congress gives their service to the continental United States and American possessions.

The Gladiators are compact biplanes. Models now possibly outdated had an admitted speed of 250 miles an hour. Two of their four machine guns are mounted in troughs in the sides of the fuselage, easily reached by the pilot, and two are mounted forward below the lower wing, one on either side of the fuselage, and outside the propellor radius.

British military quarters expressed belief that Italy's drive against British Somaliland had started a fight for the riches of the middle east over an area about as big as Europe, with sea power, communications and air power all supplied as the possibly determining factors.

FIGHT IN STAGES

Weather conditions over the area varied to such an extent that some military experts believed that Italy would be obliged to fight its way in stages, rather than an all-around synchronized drive, apart from such considerations as supplies of food.

AIR RECRUITS ARE PRAISED FOR LOYALTY

R.C.A.F. Recruiting Officer Admires Applicants' Spirit

Flying Officer Wm. Thomson, officer in charge of recruiting at the Edmonton recruiting centre of the R.C.A.F., expressed deep admiration and respect for the patriotic spirit of Edmonton and northern Alberta men who have made application for the R.C.A.F.

Typical of the type of men referred to by Flying Officer Thomson was a 22-year-old graduate of the law school at the University of Alberta, who made out his application form Thursday. The young man, now serving his papers with a local law firm, had a brilliant scholastic record at the University and holds the degrees of B.A. and LL.B.

NO COMMISSION

On Thursday he visited the R.C.A.F. recruiting centre in the provincial building and made application for an appointment as pilot officer. His university record, which would have entitled him to a commission, was not considered against applying for it as he felt time of securing the commission would take too long. He is anxious to "start pulling his weight in one of Canada's war effort as quickly as possible.

Flying Officer Thomson reported there have been several similar cases in the past few days, and that the same feeling has prevailed among a large number of applicants since the centre was opened last fall.

RUSH TO APPLY

New applicants for the air force are visiting the recruiting centre here in a steady stream. Thursday 40 called to see about making application, while Flying Officer Thomson personally interviewed 31 applicants. The largest single day for new applicants to visit the office in the past two months was last Tuesday when 47 men visited the centre. The average number of applicants per day has been holding fairly steady at the 40 mark, occasionally dropping down to 25 and 30, receiving consideration.

JOHN CUDAHY REPRIMANDED FOR INTERVIEW

U.S. Ambassador To Belgium Ordered Home By Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—John Cudahy, United States ambassador to Belgium, was reprimanded publicly by the state department today for his press interview in London on Belgium food conditions and other aspects of the German occupation of that country.

Summer Welles, acting secretary of state, reading a formal statement at his press conference, said that Cudahy, at the direction of President Roosevelt, had been requested to return to the United States immediately for consultation.

Cudahy, the statement said, had given the interview in violation of standing instructions of the department of state and certain of the views expressed by the ambassador could be construed as representing the views of this government."

The incident, the statement continued, "is one of those against the importance which must be attributed by American representatives abroad to the department's instructions, and which this official refrains from making public statements other than those made in accordance with instructions of the department."

Cudahy was criticized in the British press for the interview in which he said that conditions approaching famine would exist in Belgium by fall unless American food supplies could reach there through the British blockade.

Cudahy also was quoted as saying that the German soldiers of occupation conducted themselves

THREE CAMPS POSSIBLE FOR TRAINING PLAN

CALGARY, Aug. 9 — Alberta bachelors called up for compulsory military training under the provisions of the National Resources Military Mobilization Act, 1940, will probably find themselves spending 30 days at Red Deer and Lethbridge. A third may be established at Grande Prairie.

These are the two sites most likely to be used of the two existing training centres for the province, it was unofficially reported today.

Authorities of Military District 13 stated that, although the first training camps have not been definitely decided and must receive approval by Ottawa before official announcement can be made.

It is understood, however, that the national defence authorities will utilize the former normal school building at Camrose and buildings at Red Deer. Each centre will train 1,000 men during every 30-day period.

The camps will be commanded by Lieut.-Col. E. R. Knight, V.D., of Calgary and Lieut.-Col. F. C. Jamieson, K.C., of Edmonton.

Possibility of establishing a third militia training centre in the northern part of the province, probably at Grande Prairie, is also receiving consideration.

Members Of First Fighter Squadron Told Record Of R.C.A.F. Safe In Their Hands

By D. E. BURRITT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 9.—Members of Canada's first fighter squadron stood within the shadow of their hangars today and heard a recital by Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian high commissioner, of the exploits by British airmen in the war's largest air battle over the English Channel.

"It is rather a good moment to come to visit you," said the high commissioner, who inspected personnel and planes nestled in bushes amid rolling hills. And he went on to tell them how British pilots had brought down at least 60 enemy planes in a tremendous series of battles.

"I know," he said, "that you would want me to send them your congratulations."

But while he paid tribute to the valor of the British airmen, Mr. Massey expressed the conviction that the record of the Royal Canadian Air Force would be "quite safe" in their enthusiastic young hands turning to get into battle.

The inspection was a brief formality during which the high commissioner walked through the ranks of officers and men, chatting here and there and shaking hands, after which he watched a short exhibition of routine formation flying.

He told them how deeply he was impressed by their keenness and smartness, adding that "when I write home again I shall tell them all about you." What he probably will be unable to write about, however, was the impatience expressed by young pilots to get into action alongside the squadrons of the Royal Air Force, particularly one housed at the same airdrome.

The British squadron quartered here is known as one of the crack outfits, and they envy every officer and man. They have watched fighters return from battle in bullet-riddled planes, leap into new machines and soar away in the hope of resuming the fight.

PRETTY TOUGH

"You know it's pretty tough to sit around here training day after day and watch these fellows come back from all kinds of scraps," said a tall, fair-haired lad from Montreal. He dropped his head and kicked at the dry turf several times, then looked up again, continuing:

"D'd you ever sit around and watch someone you admire go into the fight and not attempt to help him? That's the way we feel."

A youthful padre striding past an ambulance and tire reeds stopped to pat the pilot on the shoulder and consolingly said, "Just wait your turn son, there'll be plenty of time for all of us."

Another lad came up and introduced himself to the reporter, saying he knew a lot of newspapermen in the Ottawa press gallery, where he once carried copy.

"Boy, isn't this swell," he said in a loud voice, at the same time sweeping his hand to indicate the entire airfield.

"I'm an aircraftsman now, but I'm studying to be a pilot and doing okay too. All I want is to get up there and get something going with those English guys. Say, if you want to meet some fliers, just hang around here until they get back."

ANGLO TROOPS IN SHANGHAI BEING MOVED

foreign office, was considered by diplomats as part of the efforts of the London government to "appease" Japan.

It was pointed out that in event of a break in relations between the two countries, Britain would not be able to defend Shanghai, Tientsin or Peiping. Therefore, it was suggested in diplomatic circles, the British might be withdrawing to give Japan a bloodless victory while they prepared for a stiffer resistance elsewhere in the East.

GAVE WARNING

Japan last year warned the belligerents regarding Japanese plans for uniting Manchukuo and North China in a close working agreement with Japan, which would call for the elimination of foreign influence in East Asia.

The foreign office spokesman refused today, however, to comment on whether other powers would follow the British in withdrawal of troops. There are United States, French and Italian forces at Shanghai in the International Settlement.

American troop withdrawals and continuation of Italian troops in Shanghai would be regarded here as a further evidence of Japan's swing toward the axis powers.

Japan's ultimate objective is the ousting of foreign concessions throughout China, but this has been pursued cautiously and with efforts to persuade European belligerents that they should withdraw their forces from China. Both the British and American forces previously had been largely withdrawn from Tientsin and the Upper Yangtse.

By ROBERT BELLAIRE
British United Press Exclusive Cable
To The Edmonton Bulletin

SHANGHAI, Aug. 9—"We expect and hope that other troops will withdraw," a Japanese embassy spokesman said today when informed that Great Britain had ordered withdrawal of its troops from Shanghai and Northern China.

The spokesman made his statement after viewing the official British announcement.

He pointed out that at the start of the European war Japan had asked that troops of belligerents be withdrawn from Japanese-occupied territory because of danger of some incident which might involve Japan.

It was believed that British troops withdrawn would be sent to Hong Kong or Singapore.

Announcement of the withdrawal means 10,000 British subjects and British investments estimated at £200,000,000 (approximately $800,000,000) will be left with British navy units as their protection in event of an emergency.

possibly better than would have American troops under such circumstances.

The text of Welles' statement:

"I have now received from the American embassy in London a transcript of the press interview given by Ambassador Cudahy in London, on Tuesday, Aug. 6, last.

"From the transcript it would appear that Ambassador Cudahy received at an informal gathering some American correspondents and some representatives of the British press who had requested interviews with him.

NO AUTHORIZATION

"As I previously stated, the ambassador's interview was given without prior authorization from, or without prior notification to the department of state.

"I am sure that no one will question the sincerity of the ambassador's sympathetic interest in the future well-being of the Belgian people, an interest which is shared by the people of the United States. Nevertheless, the interview given was in violation of standing instructions of the department of state, and certain of the views expressed by the ambassador are not authorized as representing the views of this government.

"The incident illustrates once again the importance which must be attributed by American representatives abroad to the department's instructions to refrain at this critical time for making public statements other than those made in accordance with the instructions of the department of state."

By direction of the president, Ambassador Cudahy has been requested to return to the United States immediately for consultation.

400 PLANES HURLED BACK IN AIR FIGHT

high of July 12, when 26 German raiders were downed.

The German planes operated in waves all day long after motor torpedo boats first attacked a large convoy in the early hours of the morning. Their operations were confined to the sea.

150 IN ONE ATTACK

In the last of three main air attacks on the convoy the Germans threw 150 dive bombers and fighters at the ships.

The Germans used their motor torpedo boats—Britain's equivalent of our E-boats—in attacks on the convoys. In a convoy raid during the night these small, fast, deadly, mosquito boats torpedoed three ships.

One of the E-boats was sunk and another damaged in the second raid.

About one-third of the German air losses were estimated to be Junker 87 dive bombers. The rest were fighters, but it was not yet known how many were single and how many double-engined planes.

Each wave of bombers was protected by a big screen of fighter planes, many of them the new Heinkel 113, Germany's answer to the Spitfire and Hurricane. This plane, the first built on Britain's soil, which this 1,500-horsepower single seater fighter was used in any numbers. It has only been in use for about a month. It mounts one motor, a cannon, and two large-bore machine-guns.

CAN'T MATCH BRITISH

Judging from yesterday's fighting the Heinkel was no match for the 400-mile-an-hour Spitfires and Hurricanes which mount eight machine-guns in their wings and can fire at the rate of 1,800 bullets a minute.

Estimating the cost of a bomber at $100,000 and a fighter at $25,000, the financial loss suffered by the Germans yesterday was well over $2,500,000, far exceeding the cost of the shipping destroyed.

The Junkers 87, Germany's No. 1 dive bomber, operated in three-plane groups. Some fighters shot down were twin seater Messerschmitt 110s.

Since the intensified air warfare began last June 18 it is estimated that 319 enemy aircraft have been brought down over or near the British Isles and 300 plus was way destroyed.

SCATTERED RAIDS

Although the intensity of the attacks apparently had slackened, the air ministry reported scattered raids throughout last night and today. It disclosed there had been some damage to property and some casualties, one of which was fatal, in southwest England.

Renewed bombardment of the Strait of Dover, the Bristol channel, northeast England and the midlands also caused some damage and killed some persons. Casualties, however, were "few."

Seven persons were reported killed and 12 injured in collapse of part of a factory in the northwest. The building was surrounded by a military guard after the accident.

The press warned that Germany, perhaps seeking to pave the way for invasion barges, blitzkrieg, may send over as many as 500 planes at a time, and a leaflet published by the ministry of information and stuffed under front doors today warned the people to "stay where you are."

R.A.F. HITS BACK

Cheering, however, was the announcement that 10 German radio stations, including the Berlin broadcaster, suddenly went off the air in relays last night, indicating that the Royal Air Force had hit back at the Nazis.

They were the stations at Stuttgart, Breslau, Cologne, Hamburg, Berlin, Strasbourg, Frankfort, Saarbrucken and Hamburg.

The ministry of information warned the public to be on guard against a five-day campaign designed to prepare Britons for mass aerial bombardment.

GOVERNMENT CONTENT

"The government is represented as content with the people's resolute patriotism, Royal Air Force prowess, the continental coastline and the army's stand to at the dangerous hours of dawn and dusk. The fighting services are secure against surprise.

"To prepare the man in the street, Prime Minister Churchill himself opened the campaign Sunday by warning Britons that 'we must not slacken off vigilance or moral alertness.' Since then, A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, has warned that 'hard and severe trials and grievous tribulations lie ahead,' and David Lloyd George, prime minister during the last war, has said 'such a tempest as Britain has never before encountered is about to break upon her.'

Today's pamphlet told the average Briton that it contained "not simply advice," but rather "an order from the government."

"If you do not stay put you will stand a very good chance of being killed," the pamphlet declared. Refugees, it said, would be machine-gunned by German planes and "turned off the roads by British troops."

Advice to people in battle areas was "to go into shelter and stay there." If, however, small parties of parachutists should threaten property in an area "not under enemy control," the householder, said the government, has "the right of every man and woman to do what he can to protect himself, his family and his home."

RAIDS FORECAST

Newspaper forecasts of German raids by 500 or more planes, each added to the warnings of statements produced a truculent attitude in London where, as one reporter said, the most popular saying today is "Let's have it and get it over with."

Neutral military observers in London speculated that the start of the Italian campaign in East Africa might be the opening gun in a campaign in which Britain would be attacked at home and abroad.

They agreed generally, however, that invasion of Britain would be attempted only after a period of 10 days of protracted bombing. The Germans, they declare, are saving their air strength for such an attack, which they also hold explains the comparative lightness of all attacks on land objectives in past weeks.

Today's War Moves

transport that domestic distribution methods will have to be revised. The channel offensive has no bearing on the ability of Britain to keep open her trans-ocean lanes for her food ships. This is a different problem facing the German strategy of blockade.

SECOND OFFENSIVE

Yesterday's encounter was the second recent German offensive against channel convoys. The first found the British unprepared with sufficient airplanes for counter-attacks, and the German success was proportionately greater. The engagement yesterday shows the British have now devised a concentrated air defense for channel convoys making German offensives in this area very costly.

Whether the cost is too great for the results will be shown by future German action. If there is no quick resumption of the German offensives over the channel, the conclusion must be that the British defence has been found too effective.

In any such engagement, the home air force has a definite advantage in resisting an enemy air attack. A large part of the enemy planes are bombers, depending on fighting planes for protection. All of the defending planes, on the other hand, are fighters. Thus, the counter-offensive of the home planes, in the aggregate, possesses more attacking strength for air battles with fewer planes.

British figures show 400 German planes were engaged with a loss of 60. It has been shown in various ways since the beginning of the war that while the British conceal all but announcements of individual ships that have been sunk, their statements of aggregate casualties are factual.

If it is definitely confirmed that the Germans lost 60 of a total of 400 planes this corresponds to 15 per cent of effectives killed in a land battle. No commander could afford a continuation of such slaughter which would strain his reserves too severely. The loss to Germany must be measured more in terms of trained airmen than actual planes.

The Germans may have been using their massed attack not only to try to command the channel but also to gain experience in organizing a large major air offensive against British land objectives. It is difficult, however, to carry through an attack of this size because once the planes are in the air there can be no central command to direct the course of the battle. The Germans are trained more to follow orders than to act on their own initiative.

The defense has greater advantage in fighting over land than sea because of the numerous air bases close at hand. A land attack by German planes similar in size to the channel attack thus is likely to cause the Germans heavier casualties.

SIX WARPLANES ARE BAGGED IN CHANNEL CHASE

LONDON, Aug. 9.—One Spitfire squadron in yesterday's stirring channel battle carried their air fight right over to the French coast.

Its men chased seven Messerschmitts across the channel. Before the battle was over and by the time France was sighted six of the Nazi fighters were destroyed.

Then as a last salute the men fired at a German torpedo boat off Calais.

"Several of the crew" he permarked later when he was describing the battle, "fell overboard."

GRACIE FIELDS ASTOUNDED BY HER RECEPTION

British Comedienne Makes Brief Overnight Stop In City

Amazement at the number of people who have been attending her Canadian concerts was expressed by Gracie Fields, highest paid British motion picture star and comedienne, in an early morning interview in Edmonton Friday.

Arriving unannounced and unexpected, Miss Fields stepped off a Trans - Canada Air Lines plane at the airport at 1:30 a.m., took a taxi to the Macdonald hotel and stayed there until train time, when she boarded the Continental Limited at 7:30 a.m. for Jasper.

Gracie Fields

Miss Fields flew here from Toronto, immediately following a concert there. She will visit and sing at Jasper and Banff and then return to sing in Edmonton on Wednesday at the Arena.

JUST "G. FIELDS"

When the T.C.A. airport attendant received the passenger manifests from the stewardess, he noticed "G. Fields" on one of the sheets. Never realizing it was "Gracie", he filed away the manifests, completed his tour of duty and went home to bed.

When Miss Fields, accompanied by her pianist, Harry Parr-Davies and her young woman secretary, arrived at the Macdonald, she was given the only vacant room. "It was just luck that we had a room as we had no reservation," a hotel clerk told The Bulletin later.

Going straight to her room, Miss Fields called for a glass of milk. None could be found at that hour and the night clerk sent her up the bottle he had been saving for his early morning lunch. The actress thanked him graciously over the telephone.

SINGS FOR SAILORS

Miss Fields' concert in Edmonton is one of a series she is giving across Canada, all the proceeds of which are going to the Navy League of Canada and the King George War Fund for sailors.

The people of the Dominion have been "grand" on her tour, she said. The size of the country still amazes her. "Fair gets you," she commented.

It is possible, she said, that she may go to Australia and New Zealand for further concerts, but this will depend on "circumstances." She did not enlarge on this.

The advance sale of tickets indicates that a huge crowd will hear her concert at the Arena. At last report, more than 3,500 orders for seats had been filled, with a week to go.

Besides comedy numbers and songs in a Lancashire dialect, Miss Fields sings many other beautiful songs in her rich, soprano voice.

There'll be great doings at Edmonton Garrison headquarters and at the Empire theatre on Wednesday, next, August 14 when "Our Gracie" pays her long-awaited visit. There will be a special military celebration in the afternoon.

"Our Gracie" is to give a special concert for the soldiers in the Empire theatre on Wednesday afternoon.

Lt. Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., Area Commandant, on Friday released information on the military participation in the event. The concert will be held at the Empire theatre, which has been donated for the occasion by Alex Entwisle, Edmonton pioneer theatre manager.

The entertainment will be given for troops of the Edmonton Garrison, including Royal Canadian Air Force and the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve.

The troops will form up at the Prince of Wales Armory and will march down 101 street to Jasper, west on Jasper to 103 street and to the Empire theatre.

REGIMENTAL BAND

The band of the 2nd Battalion, Edmonton Regiment, by kind permission of Lt. Col. R. Walter Hale, M.C., officer commanding and the bugle band of the South Alberta Regiment (31st. Bn., C.E.F.) will take part and the Edmonton Regiment band will assist at the concert.

The program at the theatre will be substantially the same as that to be given in the evening at the Arena.

Col. Brown will be in charge of the parade.

Italians Lose 15 Planes In Battle and in the desert areas, supplies of water.

A campaign against British Somaliland could be timed with a drive into Egypt because of the similarity of weather conditions, military men said. But operations against the Sudan, along whose frontier there is now skirmishing, would be hampered by heavy summer rains, it was said.

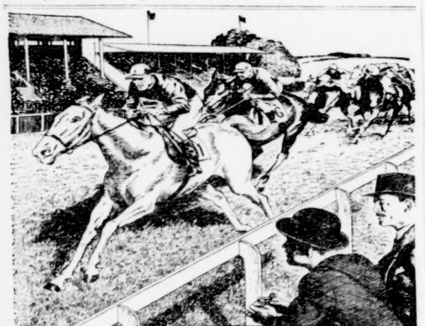

The Italians, attempting to blaze a path for their troops who are seeking to open a "window" on the Gulf of Aden and the Indian Ocean in British Somaliland, twice raided Berbera, the capital and principal port of the protectorate. One of the bombers was damaged and there were no casualties.

The Italians have occupied Zeila, a small harbor 150 miles west of Berbera near the French Somaliland frontier, and Hargeisa, native camel-breeding centre on the mountain highway 100 miles from Berbera, and Oadweina, near Hargeisa.

The R.A.F. bombed Hargeisa yesterday, hitting barracks and bungalows in which troops where believed quartered.

The British South African Air Force operating from Kenya also bombed Elwak, a small frontier post in Italian-East Africa.

A military communique said the Italian columns which occupied Hargeisa andOadweina were continuing a northward march through the barren rocky hill paths toward the coast.

Canada Must Foster Determination to Win Says Maj.-Gen. LaFleche

OTTAWA, Aug. 9. — Canada must foster the will to win which Belgium, Holland and France lacked in the struggle against Nazi Germany, Maj.-Gen. L. R. LaFleche, associate deputy minister of national war services, said in a speech over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation last night.

"Nazi Germany is not invincible," said the General, who saw the might of Germany at as close range as any Canadian when he served as Canadian military attache in France prior to the subjugation of that country.

LACKED WILL TO WIN

"The Germans starved themselves to build a formidable war machine," he said. "But I say that Nazi military successes were due in greater measure to lack of adequate preparation on the part of the nations conquered than to the intrinsic merits of German arms and men.

"I will go further, Holland, Belgium and France were conquered because they lacked the will to win. In the case of Holland and Belgium prolonged adherence to an illogical neutrality in the face of repeated failures of Germany to honor her pledged word and treaty obligations was the beginning of defeat.

"In France the spirit of Verdun, that moral incentive which carried the French armies to victory at a desperate moment, was absent. The French did not realize until it was too late the imminence and seriousness of the German menace. The people of France had become lulled ever since the last war to live in ease and comfort. . . ."

USED EVERY DECEIT

Germany as a nation never felt the full weight of the first Great war. The German people could not believe their armies were despicably defeated. A new generation grew up on teachings of evil and who many broke her pledges as a matter of policy. No subterfuge or deceit was too great for Nazi Germany or Fascist Italy. They sought to undermine the patriotism of people in all parts of the world.

The fifth column worked in France as it did in Belgium and Holland and added to it was the handicap placed on French armies by the refugees who were bombed and machine gunned by German airmen.

General LaFleche said on reaching England aboard a ship of The Royal Navy he realized the few miles of sea lying between the British Isles and the continent would thwart the invader.

"Great Britain will hold out and we will win this war," he said.

Canadians were playing a large part in the war already and must do more to help save Great Britain and in so doing save themselves.

MUST NOT BE DIVERTED

"The resources necessary to achieve victory are at our command. But, disregarding fear as a motive, we have not yet the real, the true inspiration without which we can not move a one against the common foe. This inspiration lies in the love we bear for our God, our families and our country."

Canadians had to be ready to accept bad news without allowing themselves to be diverted from their efforts.

The war was thrust upon Canada "by a dangerous maniac" and Canadians were fighting against men "hypnotized by appeals to the lowest passions in man—greed, deceit, the desire to dominate others by force of arms and lust."

"The enemy has reached our second line of defence, the British Isles," he concluded. "Our very existence as a nation of free men is threatened. In the face of grave and imminent danger each one of us must resolve to do his or her duty to the fullest extent. Canada must be prepared spiritually as well as materially.

"We are now fighting for the peace of our homes. We are fighting so that our children may know better days than those into which we live. We are fighting for civilization—for freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of worship. There is no man in Canada who would not give his all in defence of these."

U.S. Air Chief in Alaska

With the knowledge that Soviet Russia has established an air base opposite Alaska, Uncle Sam is becoming more and more interested in the military value of his northern possessions. Major-General H. H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. Army Air Corps, is shown, right, with Governor Gruenning of Alaska, as the air chief inspected giant U. S. air bases being constructed at Fairbanks and Anchorage.

Ottawa Plans Band Music At All Centres Of Militia Training

OTTAWA, Aug. 9—There's going to be music and plenty of it in Canada's ever-growing army of militia men with a band at each non-permanent active militia training centre.

The department of national defence, it was made known today, has authorized formation of these bands for the 30 proposed NPAM training centres, to supplement those already organized by various units.

At defence headquarters it was said long experience has shown that a band makes all the difference in the world in the snap and zest with which soldiers march and go through their parade ground manoeuvres.

BANDSMEN HONORED

In the past many bandamen have been honored for their soldiering and many Canadian militia regiments had bands long before the Great War.

Pipers of the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry, two of whom were awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal, played the leading role of the battalion up to the scene of action at Vimy Ridge in April, 1917.

Piper James Richardson, of the 16th (Canadian Scottish) Battalion, won the Victoria Cross when he rallied his company by playing up and down in front of enemy barbed wire enhancements which the Canadians were attacking in spite of fire. Richardson later was killed when he went back into the zone of action to retrieve the pipes he left behind.

FIRST BOMBER, CANADA-MADE, IS GIVEN TEST

"Built To Do Big Job, Plane Has Everything," Says Pilot

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. HUBERT, Que., Aug. 9—The first Canadian-built Hampden bomber—product of six firms cooperating together—rolled over St. Hubert airport Thursday and leapt into the air, leading a bomber parade that is progressing along assembly lines with speed and regularity.

The plane completed the test successfully and landed approximately 10 minutes later.

VETERAN PILOT

At the controls was J. H. (Red) Lymburner, veteran of two Lincoln Ellsworth Antarctic expeditions. The Dunville, Ont., test pilot, who had also broken-in Canada's first Bolingbroke bomber, was proud and confident of his roaring, capable-looking charge today.

"She's built to do a big job and she's got everything she needs to carry that job out," he grinned.

Lymburner has 4,000 flying hours on his record and is an honorary group captain of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

WELL SATISFIED

"I am very well satisfied with our first bomber," said a company official. "This is a proud day. The first plane of course is the toughest but here is one that has come out of our first effort, which we now have so successfully, the rest is plain sailing.

This all-metal, heaviest military plane ever constructed in Canada has a loaded weight of about 10 tons. It is powered by two Bristol Pegasus nine-cylinder radial engines, each driving a three-bladed propeller.

Her speed is a closely-guarded secret, but her flying range will take her from London to Vienna and return with lots of gas to spare.

KING SCORES BULLSEYE IN FIRST EFFORT

LONDON, Aug. 9—The King, who with the Queen is touring factories in Coventry and Derby, scored a bullseye in his first shot at a Coventry factory range yesterday.

The King used a 22-calibre rifle over a 30-yard range. He turned the rifle over to Lord Dudley, the regional commissioner, who also scored a bullseye.

Said His Majesty: "You can get nothing but bulls on this range!"

Germans Kill Poles

BASEL, Switzerland, Aug. 9—Two Polish soldiers were killed by a German patrol as they tried to cross the Rhine river into Germany, it was held. France after escaping a Swiss internment camp, it was reported here.

PRODUCTION OF PLANES IN U.S. IS SPEEDING UP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—William S. Knudsen, production chief of the National Defence Commission, reported last night United States production of warplanes had reached a rate of 10,800 a year and would pass the 18,000-a-year mark by next January.

He made this report of progress toward President Roosevelt's goal of 50,000 planes a year in a nation-wide broadcast.

He Knew Fascists

LONDON—Condemning Fascists in court, Magistrate F. O. Langley said, "We know the type of men they are. The trouble is they pose as 'indly, altruistic men when they are the worst kind of criminals."

Nazi Raiders Try Old Trick In Air Battle

LONDON, Aug. 9—German raiders tried an old technique—using a decoy—during the afternoon stages of the great channel battle fought Thursday, in which the Royal Air Force accounted for 33 Nazi raiders.

The decoy was a Messerschmitt 109. He flew low. High above him were 10 Messerschmitt 110s waiting for the R.A.F. to tackle the decoy and ready to swoop down on them from their height and take them by surprise.

One Hurricane pilot said the decoy "over-acted its part."

As he flew around, obviously trying to attract attention three Hurricane fighters swooped on him, downed him and immediately went to attack the high-flying birds of prey.

Three of the 10 Messerschmitts were downed in short order.

SUBS BELIEVED SEEN IN WATERS OF FAR NORTH

COCHRANE, Ont., Aug. 9.—George Papp, northern fur trader, arrived here yesterday from the Great Whale River, 600 miles north, and told a tale of the possibility of submarines in northern waters.

Papp, who had been at the river since last September, said in an interview that during the last part of June, two Eskimos came to him and told how they had seen at a point 200 miles north of the Great Whale River, two objects break the surface of the water.

The Eskimos said there were two pipes coming through the water, then two large barrels appeared, one behind the other. They sailed along for some distance, then disappeared.

The Eskimos asked Papp what they had seen. He said that he questioned them further and came to the opinion they had seen submarines.

FAIR YIELDS EXPECTED IN WEST WHEAT

Effects Of Early Drought On Prairies Are Now Shaken Off

WINNIPEG, Aug. 9—Western Canada's 1940 wheat crop has shaken off the depressing effects of early drought and heat and fair yields appear likely across the prairies, the Winnipeg Free Press reported yesterday.

This summer's harvesting season will be longer than usual, the report predicts, because a greater part of the Manitoba and Saskatchewan crops were seeded early and pushed to maturity by dry, hot weather while Alberta seeding was delayed by moisture which resulted in a heavier, leafier stand of grain.

Manitoba's heaviest wheat stands are reported in the eastern districts, south of the Riding Mountain area and in scattered areas along the international border.

In Saskatchewan the favored areas are located in the west-central areas, in the northeast and at a few points in the southwest.

Only a small area in the south of the whole of Alberta except the south-eastern corner from producing yields far above average, the reports said.

General condition of the new crop was reported in Manitoba as good at 33 per cent of the points, fair at 53 per cent and poor at 14 per cent. Twenty-eight per cent of Saskatchewan's farmlands reported conditions good, 55 per cent fair and 17 per cent poor. Alberta was reported 83 per cent good and 17 per cent fair.

Drought, heat and grasshopper damage was noted in only scattered areas. Condition of the various grains was said to be 23 per cent good in Manitoba and Saskatchewan and 77 per cent good in Alberta.

ACCLAMATION INDICATED FOR DEFENCE HEAD

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 9.—An acclamation in the Kingston by-election was indicated last night for Hon. Angus Macdonald, minister of national defence for naval affairs, when the Conservative choice, Hon. T. A. Kidd, declined to accept the nomination.

The by-election called for Aug. 19 was necessitated by the death of Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of national defence. Official nomination date is Aug. 12.

When the Conservatives met last night Mr. Kidd stated he shared views of the majority of citizens that there should be no election at this time. Mr. Kidd was defeated by the late Mr. Rogers in the general election.

Marquess Dufferin And Ava Receives Army Commission

LONDON, Aug. 9—The Marquess of Dufferin and Ava, 31, former undersecretary of state for the colonies, has been commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards. He turned down a post in the government Prime Minister Churchill formed following resignation of Neville Chamberlain.

BILL EMPOWERS U.S. PRESIDENT TO CALL OUT GUARD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—By the overwhelming vote of 71 to 7, the United States Senate yesterday passed and sent to the House of Representatives the bill empowering the president to call out the National Guard and army reserves for a 12-month period of duty anywhere in the Western Hemisphere, American possessions or the Philippine Islands.

First, however, the chamber adopted an amendment permitting guardsmen with wives or children dependent on their salaries or wages to resign.

Just before the bill passed, it escaped being drastically altered by the narrowest of margins. On a vote of 39 to 38, the chamber rejected an amendment by Senator Alva Adams, Colorado Democrat, limiting the service of the guard to continental United States, American possessions and the Philippine Islands. This would mean that the guard could not be sent to guardamen to Latin America. The administration leaders, who have made no secret of their fear of German penetration in that area, were quick to fight the amendment.

SOLDIER KILLED IN FALL FROM FREIGHT TRAIN

MEDICINE HAT, Aug. 9—His legs almost severed from his body, Private W. Ponych, 23, of the Calgary Highlanders, was killed here late yesterday when he fell from a westbound Canadian Pacific Railways freight train. His home was in Vauxhall, Alta.

Ponych, a car had passed over his legs and he was dragged approximately 30 feet. The young soldier had apparently attempted to climb aboard the moving train as it as steaming out of the city limits on the Redcliff hill. The soldiers, on leave from Bible camp, had been seen in the city during the day in company with a soldier companion, and it is believed he was celebrating during the last hours of his leave in Calgary.

The soldier was alive when first reached from the tracks but unconsciousness and death followed almost immediately.

City police are investigating.

Private S. R. Gutnik of Gleichen was the companion with Pte. W. Ponych, and apparently was the only eyewitness. The train crew knew nothing of the accident as the train continued without stopping.

Duke Of Windsor Planning To Visit Canadian Troops

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 9—The Duke of Windsor will visit Canadian troops stationed in Bermuda during his stay here, it was announced last night by Capt. George Wood, his aide-de-camp.

Capt. Wood did not announce when the King's brother, on his way to the Bahamas to take over the office of governor, would inspect the Canadians. The Dominion soldiers have been here for some months, relieving the British garrison formerly stationed in this

Jersey City Mayor, At Banff, Expects Roosevelt Victory

BANFF SPRINGS HOTEL, Aug. 9—Jersey City's mayor, Frank Hague, here with his family on a holiday trip isn't losing any sleep over the recent Gallup Poll which following the Democratic convention estimated pro-Wilkie sentiment in the country at 52 per cent as against 48 per cent of the public favoring Roosevelt.

"I haven't much faith in pre-election polls. Now what happened in 1932 and again in 1936. Each time the polls gave New Jersey to the Republicans and each time Roosevelt carried the state. My belief is the President will be elected for a third term," he told an interviewer last night.

The leader of the New Jersey Democratic forces declined to comment on the President's opponent in the forthcoming elections, saying that he did not know Mr. Wilkie and so did not wish to offer any comment.

Canadian Soldiers Disappointed When Not In Honor Guard

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 9—The officer commanding Canadian troops in Bermuda said yesterday "we are a little disappointed at not participating in the guard of honor" to receive the Duke and Duchess of Windsor when they landed here.

He said the Canadian unit had formed a guard of honor during the visit of the King and Queen to Canada last year and also when the Duke visited Canada as the Prince of Wales.

(Censorship regulations did not permit use of the name of officer commanding).

The white ant of tropical countries produced more than 30,000 eggs a day during its hatching season.

BERMUDANS ARE IMPRESSED BY WINDSOR COUPLE

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 9.—An aged negro woman sitting on her balcony waved a potted hibiscus as the Duke and Duchess of Windsor rode by yesterday, and cried wildly: "Hello! Hello!

The Duke looked up at her and smiled.

A shirt-sleeved man broke through police lines as the Duchess' car drew near and waved his straw hat. He was almost run over. The Duchess turned and smiled but was directly he seemed stunned and overwhelmed. He stood open-mouthed as the carriage moved on.

One woman looked at the Duchess. "Why it was worth coming down here just to see her—she's beautiful."

Britons Advising Americans On New Tank Developments

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—British veterans of the "Flanders pocket" are helping adapt United States military tanks to modern war development. The first British expert here on tank-purchase mission is Brig.-Gen. D. H. Pratt, who commanded a fleet of 100 tanks in northeastern France and Belgium.

Mother Of Lady Tweedsmuir Is Dead In England

LONDON, Aug. 9. — Hon. Mrs. Norman Grosvenor, the mother of Lady Tweedsmuir, died Wednesday.

Mrs. Grosvenor was a daughter of Rt. Hon. James Stuart-Wortley, who was solicitor-general under Lord Palmerston. In 1881 she married Hon. Norman Grosvenor, who died in 1898.

She started the colonial intelligence league for educated women, which is now incorporated into the society for overseas settlement of British women, the women's branch of the colonial office. For this work she was made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Mrs. Grosvenor did miniatures and water colors, which she exhibited, and wrote three novels and, in cooperation with a member of her family, wrote the "Memoirs of the First Lady Wharncliffe."

Roosevelt Plans Inspect Eastern Defence Positions

HYDE PARK, N.Y., Aug. 9—Seven key spots in the United States' vital eastern seaboard defence system will be visited during the week-end by President Roosevelt. The president will inspect navy yards and other defence centres in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Cruiser Ajax Is Back In Service

LONDON, Aug. 9—The Admiralty announced tonight that the cruiser Ajax, one of the ships which disabled the German pocket battleship Graf Spee off the coast of Uruguay last December, is back in active service at sea.

Heartening Words

David Lloyd George, dynamic "Welsh Wizard" to whom Great Britain turned in the trying times of the First World War has grown old with the years, but the courage with which he led the British Empire in those testing days is still strong and undimmed.

In a broadcast to fellow-countrymen he has warned that "such a tempest as Britain has never before encountered is about to break upon her and all that she stands for". But the Lion of Wales is undeterred.

"If the people are worthy of their forefathers Britain will pass through this hurricane fearless and erect, and will emerge from its rage mightier and more honored and more powerful than ever for the good of mankind," he said, and then went on to show that beneath the calm steadfastness of those who are now awaiting their greatest hour of trial the great fighting heart of a great fighting nation still beats calm and true. He has no misgivings as to the result of any attack by Herr Hitler and his Nazi hordes. Britain will emerge from the fiery furnace, and Phoenix-like, will gain still greater strength from the ordeal.

These are heartening words coming from a leader who knows the hearts and minds of the British people as it is given to few men to know them. They are the answer to the Lindberghs of the world and their gloomy forebodings of disaster and defeat, and they will be received with gratification by those peoples who know that should the British empire fall and the British flag cease to wave, disaster will indeed have fallen upon the earth.

True it is that Britain is now facing the greatest test of all time, but equally true is it that Britain is awake and armed and is facing that test with all the courage, all the skill, all the tenacity and boldness which made her great in the past, and with a people unified and resolute and with the will to win. Such a nation is unbeatable.

What Britain Wouldn't Do

One point in Herr Hitler's latest harangue to the Reichstag should get some attention in neutral countries. His policy, the Fuehrer said, had been based on a two-fold aim; real friendship with Italy and "a similar relationship with Great Britain".

It can hardly have been hoped by Herr Hitler that Britain would join his conspiracy for plunder. He never had cause to expect it would do so. But that he strongly desired it to do so there is every reason to believe.

The German army in co-operation with the British fleet would have made exactly the sort of combination Hitler needed in his business. With British backing he could have made himself master of western Europe without striking a blow. Even non-belligerency on the part of Britain would have been worth multitudes of men and billions of marks to him. No country in Europe save Russia would have dared ignore his demands.

Britain could have bought at least temporary immunity from attack by agreeing to stand aloof while Hitler brought western Europe and Scandinavia into subjection, by force or simply by threat of force. And while the Fuehrer thus employed himself, Britain could have built up defence forces with which to resist him should he later on turn against it.

That Britain should play the role of jackal as Italy has done is unthinkable. But it could have done so, to its own safety and profit.

That is something neutral countries ought to think about, now that Britain is threatened with destruction and its people with "total" massacre tactics because it refused to stand aside while Hitler did to these countries what he has done to Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and France.

Britain didn't have to make itself the defender of world democracy. But it did so. The democracies of the world should not forget that, now that Britain must fight for its very existence because it chose to oppose Hitler when it might have made a non-interference pact with him.

Team Play

Three high officials in the air training scheme have returned from England and France, where they studied training methods and actual air force operations against the enemy. What they learned will be passed along to instructors and recruits at the training schools.

The visit and its purpose are in line with the whole plan on which the Empire training system is being evolved. There is complete understanding and continuous consultation between the Canadian and British authorities; and the course of instruction is being planned in the light of knowledge of what conditions the graduate fliers will encounter when they get overseas, and the work they will have to do.

This is team play, based on a clear understanding of tactics, and directed by the experience of the Allied air forces. The new fliers will know when they leave Canada what has been learned in practice to be the most effective way to deal with their adversaries, therefore how best to take care of themselves and make their services count.

This war is different in almost every aspect from the former one. Bombers and fighting planes are now capable of things not then thought possible. Those who fly them and man them must be not only trained in aviation but trained in the use of these particular and constantly improving machines. A man may be thoroughly capable of handling a commercial plane but be far from proficient in manoeuvring one of the fast-flying war birds now darting about the North Sea. The graduates of our flying schools must be trained up-to-the-minute, for their own safety and the success of the Allied air forces.

Shipping Losses

German claims of destruction to British shipping differ so substantially from the information contained in official statements issued by the Admiralty in London that the propaganda department in Berlin will fool the people of the Reich only so long as they see no visible signs of the Nazi victory which Hitler and his cohorts have persistently advertised as sure and near. The figure for the week ending July 21 reveals that 35,577 tons of British merchant vessels were sunk with craft owned by other countries bringing the total tonnage to 49,857, or slightly below the weekly average for the 46 weeks of the war and less than a fourth of the highest weekly figure.

Radio announcers in the neighboring republic continue to emphasize the large totals reported from Berlin and not infrequently enlarge on the possibilities and probabilities of continued destruction at the Nazi rate. What owners of radio sets do with them is naturally their own business, but in regard to the sinking of British ships they might find less gloom in these announcements from United States stations if they would divide the German figures by about eight and take one-eighth as nearer to the destroyed British tonnage than the Goebbels version. This is the ratio suggested by the Admiralty in London. It ought to know what it is talking about.—Victoria Times.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

August 9 is the day, if weather prophets speak true, when the Nazi chiefs will attempt to invade Britain. The tides are at their highest, and the nights will be lit by the moon.

The poets sing love songs about the moon, like "The moon hath raised her lamp above, to light the way to thee, my love." Little they thought it might light the way for the modern Hun in his war of pillage. On the sea-coasts, people make use of their tide-books, compiled in advance to show the exact heights of water in different places and the times of high and low water. They are worked out by mathematicians, who calculate the pull of the moon and the slighter pull of the sun on the waters of the earth.

FLOTSAM FROM THE TIDES

The navigator, entering on perilous or unknown shallows, prefers to do it cautiously on a rising tide, so that he can kedge or pull himself off with the aid of rising water, should he touch bottom. Sunken ships are lifted off the sea-bed by harnessing caissons to them at low water, and letting the rising tide lift them clear of the mud and ooze.

Many a preacher has credited Divine intelligence with the storms that wrecked the Spanish Armada, after the fire-ships of Drake had dispersed them in the Channel. But who will apportion praise or blame to the tides of the next few days, whose risings and fallings are governed by unerring natural law?

Hasty people, like myself, who deal in generalities, declare that Britain has never been invaded since William of Normandy came over in 1066. We had better speak of "Not for 900 years", lest some cautious-minded people correct us. Small-scale attacks on England were so numerous in the reign of Henry IV that Shakespeare put in the king's mouth the famous lamentation, "O, my dear land, how like thee, happy low, lie down! Uneasy rests the head that wears a crown." Plymouth, Portsmouth, Dartmouth, Hastings, were all pillaged by French raiders before the days of Drake.

WHEN ENGLAND WAS INVADED

Incensed at King John's evasion of their new Magna Carta, the British lords in 1216 invited Prince Louis of France to become their King. His fleet and army were welcomed into London, and King John took refuge in flight. Four months later the royal fugitive died from an attack of acute indigestion. His ten-year-old son (Henry III) offering no opposition to Magna Carta, Prince Louis left England. The customary fate of the outsider who interferes in a domestic quarrel. The British turned on him and drove him and his army out of England.

"Bonnie Prince Charlie" of Scotland, brought his army of Highlanders to within 110 miles of London in his effort to set up a King of England, and John Paul Jones, the American privateer once seized the town of Whitehaven in Cumberland. His object was to set fire to the ships in the harbor, but alas, the breeze blew out the candles of his men. Under fire from ships in the harbor Jones and his men in their ship the Ranger had to retreat in haste.

There have been many petty invasions, but they all failed. So may it be with Hitler and his armies if they risk attempt in the present high tide period.

These dictator fellows have inside information on what constitutes a fitting present to each other. The other day Herr Robert Ley made a gift to his fellow dictator, Benito Mussolini. It was an armoured train for the use and protection of Il Duce, when he travels among his people. The private train consists of two cars, equipped with anti-gas gunks "of most modern construction" —two batteries of four guns each to each car.

"WITH LOVE FROM ADOLF"

Making the presentation on behalf of Herr Hitler, General Ritter von Pohl said, "The Fuehrer wanted to make this gift to 'Your Excellency, so that it may accompany you in the future on your travels to protect your life, which is so precious to the Italian people, and to the German nation."

A dummy plane was floating a few yards above the sea coast. The sixteen guns were trained on it and smashed it into smithereens while Signor Mussolini looked on from a special grandstand.

In Canada, as in England, our king moves freely among his people, secure in their affection. Only criminals are conveyed about the country in armoured cars with armed guards. Hitler and Mussolini whose girths are swollen, when they appear in public, are to be seen in vests under their uniforms, feel more secure in armoured trains than in the affections of their peoples.

I've a well-meaning but uninformed friend whose usual advice on parting is, "So long, and don't take any wooden nickels." I've lived up to the exhortation truly, not even taking a Prosperity Certificate when these were being offered in Alberta. (How much more trusting the Edson barber who gave "Baldy" Robb—who isn't bald—a hair cut and shampoo in return for a "Prosperity Certificate" clipped from the pages of The Edmonton Bulletin).

TAKE ALL THE WOODEN NICKELS

Now I find that all the wooden nickels issued during the last depression in United States are being snapped up by collectors. It's hard to get one now for less than a dollar.

My advice is "Take all the wooden nickels that are offered." Your investment in Prosperity Certificates may yet reap a harvest of profit.

THOSE ABYSSINIAN MONKS

No longer entitled to a place or a "right" in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, the community of Abyssinian monks have erected miserable huts and a tiny chapel on the roof of the church. Never prosperous, their poverty is pitiful, now that they have been cut off from the Church in the homeland. Their hardships moved me greatly.

Soft-spoken, gentle and uncomplaining, these dark-skinned monks—it was hard to realize that, despite their rags, they are dedicated monks—stand for the great company of Christians throughout the ages who have endured suffering for their faith.

I found them conducting worship, all unheeded by the world or by the surrounding churchmen of other creeds. May their prayers be heard.

In our comfort and complacency, O Master, we would remember all fellow servants of Thine, who are enduring hardship for the sake of Thy Name. Amen.

Canada at War: National Registration

In view of the misunderstanding which seems to exist in some parts of Canada respecting the attitude of the foreign-speaking sections of our population towards Canada's war effort and our war aims, the following translation of an editorial which appeared on July 24 in the German language newspaper "Der Nordwesten," published in Winnipeg, is interesting.—EDITOR.

"The registration of all Canadians is a timely and right action on the part of the Dominion Government. Under the dynamic guidance of the newly appointed Minister of War Services, the Honorable James G. Gardiner, the task is likely to be completed with speed and efficiency. While the primary object is not to draft men into military service, it will ascertain in a very thorough manner who is fitted for such and who is not; and it will also reveal what contributions Canadians as individuals can make in the war that Canada, together with the Empire and its other Dominions, is waging against the tyrannical forces of Hitler and Mussolini, now seeking to destroy every shred of liberty and freedom enjoyed by the Free Democracies of the world. This National Registration is compulsory and any evasion is punishable by severe penalty. But even if that were not the case, we believe our people of all races would comply with it readily. In doing this, however, let no one delude himself with the thought that his responsibilities are over. As far as we in this country are concerned, they are only commencing for all of us.

"The views expressed by Der Nordwesten from week to week do not exaggerate the seriousness of the situation that confronts us. We believe our readers understand that, for our attitude has been generally commended.

"It would be much more pleasant if we could say that we are safe on this side of the Atlantic from the terror which is, day and night, sweeping over the British Isles. But we are not—and though we should escape the physical dangers, what would it profit us, if we were to be subjugated instead?

"We are keenly appreciative of the difficulties that the tragedy forced upon us brings to loyal German Canadians. Many of them still have close ties of kinship with their Fatherland and the sentiments which arise from that fact are not readily eradicated nor should they be under less dangerous circumstances. This, however, is the day of stern realism. All those who love Canada must put Canada first, and must act with all the force of which they are capable, remembering that the war is not of Canada's creation, not of Britain's creation, but was conceived and plotted in the Chancelleries of Germany and Italy, with the dominating object of crushing all nations that would not bow the knee to the dictators' views of civilization. This is the challenge which Britain and her Dominions (with their own absolute power of self-government) accepted. This is the war which, with Canada's help in man power, supplies and undaunted courage, must be won, and will be won if all that is worth living for is not to vanish from this land which we cheerfully accepted as our home.

"As a newspaper now serving its nationality throughout the Dominion over half a century, we feel that there should be no misunderstanding among our people. If there are any newspapers printed in the German language in Canada that are not dealing with the drastic realities of the war and that unequivocally, they are rendering a disservice not only to the cause of Britain, but vast majority of the German people whose loyalty to Canadian institutions is not now, and never was, in question.—Der Nordwesten.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

An interesting link between the past and the present is found in today's Dates in Canadian History. On Aug. 9, 1760, 180 years ago, Vaudreuil, the French governor-general, and the Chevalier de Levis, the gallant commander of the doomed French army, having been notified by their scouts of the advancing army, but by which Jeffrey Amherst forced the surrender of Montreal on Sept. 8, began the strengthening of the fortifications of St. Helen's island, Montreal.

Many years later these same military quarters were used by the British garrison at Montreal and all its withdrawal, but left to be allowed to fall into decay. A few years ago, M. Trepanier, the vigilant protagonist of preserving old Montreal, persuaded the Dominion government and the city to join and restore the old fort to something like its original condition. The restoration was completed, and a very good job it was; it became one of the show places of Montreal and it was planned to be the locale of many of the pageants planned for the celebration of Montreal's tercentenary in 1942.

But then Hitler intervened. Peace had once more to make way for war. The fort at St. Helen's island is again occupied with soldiers and the walls which echoed with the French of De Levis' soldiers now resound with the bi-lingualism which is the characteristic of the regiments of Montreal today. Perhaps the destinies of war may permit of the return of St. Helen's island to M. Trepanier and his committee two years hence and allow their dramatic plans to be carried out. Anyway, St. Helen's island must ever remain an interesting link between the past and the present in Montreal.

Keep Flags Flying

Editor Bulletin: A suggestion has been made by one of our members which we think is a very good one—that an effort should be made to have as many flags flying as possible at the present time. Many buildings in Edmonton have flag poles and if you concur in this idea it might be possible for you to give the suggestion some publicity.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY, America's Card Authority

This is the fifth of a series of six bridge table stories.

Here is a hand that created a sensation at Boston a number of years ago. The actual bidding is shown. Milton Unger's six-club bid was a cue-bid, asking North to decide on either a no-trump—whether it should be six hearts, six spades, or even seven no trump, and also to show his partner that he held the ace of clubs.

But, as frequently happened in the early days of contract, North became a little confused by the above bidding. Thinking, "Well, were in a slam contract anyway, and that is what we wanted," he passed six clubs. Rather discouraging for South, when he saw the dummy. But it didn't daunt Unger.

He slashed two diamond tricks, three hearts and three spade tricks, then cross-ruffed hearts and spades, taking all four of his trumps safely, and, believe it or not, his contract.

Of course, there is a grand slam in no trump, spades, hearts, or diamonds, but you can appreciate that two trumps in each hand is never forgotten.

TELFORDVILLE FAIR TO OPEN ON WEDNESDAY

Recognized as one of the leading country fairs in the province, the Pioneer Agricultural society is staging its annual fair at Telfordville on Wednesday, August 14. With over 100 classes in the prize list, including cookery, flowers, vegetables and livestock, the organization hopes this year to break all attendance and entry records.

Baseball fans will have the opportunity of seeing the two top teams in the Pioneer Baseball league play the second of a three-game series.

A grand dance in the Telfordville hall will conclude the day's events.

VERMILION

The Elks Lodge donated $80.00 to the local Red Cross. This amount was raised by the Lodge in four days.

A plague of beet web worms is approaching Vermilion from the west. It was reported yesterday they had attacked the beets in the hospital garden. Today's report is that they have finished the beets and are attacking the carrots.

Mrs. J. A. M. Craig has left for Rochester to consult the Mayo doctors.

RED DEER

Red Deer has been selected as headquarters for a battalion of the Alberta Veterans Volunteer Reserve. Captain John Drever has been named battalion commander with Captain T. O'B. Gore-Hickman as second-in-command. The district from Nordegg to Alix and from Lacombe to Bowden will be included in the Red Deer organization. Companies will be placed at Rocky Mountain House, Innisfail, Alix and Red Deer. Application forms and full information may be obtained at any branch of the Canadian Legion or from Captain Drever or Captain Gore-Hickman at Red Deer.

TWO HILLS

A heavy hailstorm accompanied by drenching rain, high wind and electrical disturbances swept through the district early this week.

The storm was most damaging in the southern part of the district with the losses ranging from 20 to 100 per cent. The path of the hail was about one and a half miles wide right through the district. The heavy rain and the high wind repeated damage to the unhailed wheat by causing it to lodge severely.

CROSSFIELD

Approximately 400 people were present at the Cremona stampede grounds, when the Cremona Calf Club held its first annual show and sale recently.

The first ten places were awarded as follows: Jack Rublow, Lorne Van Haaften, Vera Reid, Lawrence Luft, Denise Hainer, Mitchell Hainer, Rayne Fiedler, Wilma Falk, Richard Boggs, John Foat.

LACOMBE

Last Rites Held For Victims Of Highway Crash

Funeral services were held here Wednesday afternoon for three victims of a crash between two cars on the Calgary-Edmonton highway last Saturday. They were Mrs. Elizabeth Hicks, her daughter, Mrs. Grace L. McDonald, and her granddaughter, Miss Joan McDonald. St. Andrew's United church was crowded to the doors and a large gathering stood outside as Rev. R. B. Layton, of Medicine Hat, and Rev. A. L. Carr officiated at the services.

Over 200 old-timers from all over central Alberta gathered here on Wednesday for the annual reunion of the Lacombe and District Old-Timers association. They attended a picture show, made a tour of the Dominion experimental farm grounds and concluded their program with an old-time dance in the evening.

Thieves Escape With $80 From Castor Merchant

On Tuesday night, safe robbers entered the premises of T. J. Holland of Fleet, lumber merchant, and broke the dial off the safe and obtained about $80 in cash. The case is in the hands of the R.C.M.P. of this district, who is making a search of the district to locate the safe burglars.

A. C. Moore, C.P.R. station agent at Castor for the past 25 years and a prominent citizen of Castor, is being transferred to Olds. Mr. Moore is one of the prominent Masons of the Castor lodge and has been secretary-treasurer of the Castor board of trade for many years.

Head Accountant

Being Uncle Sam's chief accountant and debt-collector is the new job of Representative Lindsay Warren, above, of North Carolina. President Roosevelt recently named him comptroller general of U. S.

CALMAR

A severe hailstorm struck south west of Calmar this week, damages ranged from 25 to 100 per cent. Chicken were killed and windows broken. Pigs were found after the storm with their bodies covered with blood from wounds caused by the large hailstones. The stones measured three inches across and were egg shaped. One farmer had ten large holes through the top of his car.

GLENDON

Crops are progressing favorably in this district with estimated yields of 20 to 25 bushels per acre of wheat, 35 of oats and 35 to 40 of barley. Drought has damaged crops slightly, but otherwise the yield will be average.

REGISTRATION CONCENTRATED IN THREE DAYS

Already Is Commenced In Some Institutions In Dominion

OTTAWA, Aug. 9 — National registration of the general public will be concentrated in the three days, Aug. 19 to 21 inclusive, but it has already started in some religious institutions and business and industrial plants, and will continue in some places until 30 days or until the end of the official period.

Original instructions for registration excluded ecclesiastical members of religious orders. Arrangements now have been made to have them registered by deputy registrars appointed from among their own members.

NEEDED TO HOLD JOBS

Justice T. C. Davis, deputy minister of national war services, said last night religious institutions throughout Canada had been provided with the necessary forms for registration, and similar provision had been made for industrial and business plants with more than 100 employees.

Jules Castonguay, chief registrar for Canada, said an order-in-council Wednesday requiring employers to report to police all those in their employ not registered after Aug. 21 means that nobody will be allowed to hold a job in Canada unless registered.

Regulations laid down by order-in-council forbid the hiring of anybody of 16 years or more not holding a registration card. Any employer who, after Aug. 21, employs or continues to employ a person over the age of 16 who has not registered is subject to a fine not exceeding $200 for every such employee, or imprisonment for three months or to both fine and imprisonment.

N.W.T. DATES UNDECIDED

Dates for registration in the Northwest Territories, other than Aug. 19, 20 and 21, will be announced later. The population being at widely scattered in the territories it was deemed impossible to complete registration in the three-day period.

Justice Davis said he had been deluged with requests that the questionnaire forms be sent to private individuals and small groups to be completed and returned by mail.

This, he said, is impossible because the large, stiff paper forms must be kept in their original form so that they may pass through the automatic machines which will be used for classification and counting.

HEROIC RESCUE BY CANADIANS IS COMMENDED

OTTAWA, Aug. 9—Lieut.-Commander J. C. Hibbard, commanding H.M.C.S. Skeena and his officers and men have been commended for their heroic rescue work after the recent torpedoing of the freighter S. S. Manipur off the coast of England.

Details of the rescue operations are withheld by the naval service, merely noting "admiralty states that Messrs. Thomas and John Brocklebank (owners of the freighter) have requested an expression of their keen appreciation be conveyed to Lieut.-Commander Hibbard for help he gave on the sinking of the S. S. Manipur. They add that their lordships have noted this well-deserved expression of appreciation and request it be brought to the notice of the commanding officer of the Skeena and officers and men."

Announcing this today Naval Service Minister Macdonald noted that the work of the Skeena was but one other example of the "outstanding part ships of the Royal Canadian Navy are playing in the war at sea."

Fire Breaks Out On Norway Vessel In New York Port

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—The Norwegian freighter Lista, bound for England with a heavy general cargo, was beached in the lower harbor today after a mysterious fire broke out in the engine room.

The ship was in the inner harbor when the fire was discovered at 2 a.m. Her skipper remained on board while two firetboats pumped water.

Police denied that an explosion had occurred on the Lista.

She left New York Wednesday night and reported engine trouble early yesterday. Three tugboats were ordered to escort her into the harbor when the fire broke out.

Harbor firebeats got the blaze under control early last night.

The Lista was built in Newcastle, England, in 1920 for Ludwig Mowinckels and Company of Bergen, Norway. The Lista is 560 feet long with a beam of 52.3 feet.

Thursday Tea Compliments Bride-Elect

IN compliment to her daughter, Miss Margaret Roberta Williams, whose marriage to Mr. Reginald Elmer Bibby has been arranged for this week-end, Mrs. W. T. Williams arranged an attractive trousseau tea at her home on Thursday afternoon and evening.

More than 50 guests called at the affair to extend best wishes to Miss Williams on the occasion of her marriage.

To receive her guests Mrs. Williams chose a smart frock in navy blue with white trimming and wore a corsage of sweet peas. Her daughter was smart in a brown tailleur with soft yellow blouse. Her flowers were sweet peas and baby's breath en corsage.

Mrs. Bibby, mother of the bride-groom-elect, who received in the evening, wore a medium ensemble in flowered crepe with accessories to tone.

Laid with an ecru lace cloth, the tea table was graced with arrangements of mixed gladioli, flanked on either side by pink and white tapers. Summer blossoms were arranged attractively throughout the reception rooms.

POURING TEA

Pouring tea during the afternoon were Mrs. F. J. Roberts and Mrs. B. J. Griffith, while in the evening Mrs. Hugh K. Knott and Mrs. T. Parker presided at the urns. Pouring tea to the guests during the afternoon hours were Mrs. R. Hunt, Mrs. M. Said, Mrs. M. McGillis and Mrs. A. Brewerridge, while in the evening Mrs. Donald Gallagher and Miss Jean Parker and Mrs. Harold Anderson were serviteurs.

Guests were shown the trousseau by Miss Mary Weir.

I.O.D.E. Unit Members Knit Many Supplies

Reports of war work featured a meeting of the Hon. Frank Oliver chapter, I.O.D.E., recently, and it was announced by Mrs. J. R. Bird that 165 sweaters and 47 pairs of socks have been turned in to the municipal convener. Mrs. George Mysall reported that $2075 had been donated to the sock fund while the chapter has also sent its quota to the Coronation Buttonhole Fund. Mrs. F. E. King reported that members are busy making layettes.

A vote of thanks was expressed to officers and members of the chapter to Mr. Frank Drayton chairman of the civic employees' picnic committee for their generous donation of $22 for its war fund.

Mrs. J. Davies is convening the monthly whist party on Tuesday, August 27, in the Garneau United Church Community hall. The meeting will commence at eight o'clock.

Two new members were welcomed to the chapter, Mrs. C. Jepp and Mrs. M. MacGregor.

DUCHESS WEARS SMART FROCK TO BERMUDA HOME

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 9—Women of Bermuda stole honor of glamour at the Duchess of Windsor's costume as she arrived yesterday. The Duchess is considered one of the world's best dressed women. She wore a printed satin-backed crepe of pink and blue of all-over design with a full length skirt and front blue crepe, its elbow-length sleeves hanging straight from her shoulders. Her hat was a tilted affair of iridescent straw with a crown in front. She had elbow-length white gloves and white shoes.

The Duke wore a tab-collared shirt with grey serge suit, an Oxford university tie and soft hat and white sports shoes. He carried an ordinary straw hat with black band.

Alberta Girl, General's Son, Are Married

INTER-PROVINCE interest is shared in the midsummer wedding performed in the lovely gardens of "Rokewoods", country home of Major-General, Victor W. Odlum, General Officer Commanding, Second Division, C.A.S.F., and Mrs. Odlum, in Vancouver on Saturday afternoon last when Josephine Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Sturrock, Nordegg, Alberta, became the bride of Lieut. Nelson Ernest Odlum, Irish Fusiliers, youngest son of Major-General and Mrs. Odlum.

The chaplain of the groom's regiment, Capt. the Rev. C. G. F. Stone, performed the ceremony for which the bride was frocked in blue French wool crepe with grey coat trimmed in fox fur. She wore matching accessories, and a corsage of gardenias and sweet peas.

Attending her were little Gale Adair Edwards, a white-frocked flower girl carrying an armful of white heather, and Miss Glenna Avery of Toronto, in turquoise crepe with natural baku straw hat and corsage of pink roses.

Mr. Leonard Turnbull was best man.

At the outdoor reception following, Mrs. R. M. Odlum, on behalf of absent members of the Odlum family, proposed the toast to the bride.

Princess Alice Opens Y.W.C.A. Hostess House In Pembroke

PEMBROKE, Ont., Aug. 9—Her Royal Highness Princess Alice officially opened the National Council Y.W.C.A. Hostess House at Pembroke, Ont., on Aug. 8. Princess Alice is a patroness of the Y.W.C.A. and has expressed interest in the Hostess House branch of the Y.W.C.A. war services program.

Opening of the Y. W. Hostess House coincides with an inspection by Princess at Camp Petawawa by Canada's Governor-General, Earl of Athlone. Y.W.C.A. officials were delighted when Her Royal Highness, who travelled from Ottawa with the Governor-General, graciously accepted an invitation to officially open the Pembroke Hostess House, one of a chain of such centres now in operation across the Dominion from Vancouver to Halifax. Plans for five Soldiers' Clubs are under way in response to the request of the department of auxiliary services to the Canadian Legion that the Y.W.C.A. assume responsibility for such centres close to all large army and air training bases.

PROVIDES FOR SOLDIERS' RELATIVES

The new house at Pembroke, which provides accommodation and assistance to visiting wives and relatives of soldiers stationed at Camp Petawawa, some seven miles distant, has been made possible through the generosity of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Keith of Ottawa. Mrs. Keith, a summer resident of Pembroke, is a former Y.W.C.A. secretary and an active member of the Y.W.C.A. World Council and has organized an active women's committee, who have been responsible for preparing the house for visitors.

Large living-room, dining room and lounge provide ample space for social functions, while there is a quiet visit. Rooms for transient visitors are located on the second and third floors. The house, formerly one of the very fine Pembroke residences is situated at 402 Pembroke street west.

SOLVES MANY PROBLEMS

The opening of Hostess House Great difficulty in finding accommodation was experienced by many visitors to Pembroke.

Brigadier W. W. Foster, director of auxiliary services, department of national defence, states with regard to the Y.W.C.A. house: "There can be no question of the value of this service, which is greatly appreciated by our serving men throughout the country. This department is very appreciative of your co-operation." Committee in charge of the Pembroke House includes Mrs. H. J. Keith, chairman; Miss C. Douglas, secretary and official hostess; Miss S. Cregan; Mrs. D. W. Rickey; Mrs. H. J. Mackie; Mrs. Norman Campbell and Mrs. I. A. Moore.

Mrs. K. Baxter Is Married On Thursday

HOME of Mr. and Mrs. W. Campbell was the scene of a pretty wedding at the hour of nine o'clock on Thursday evening when Kathleen Baxter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Baxter of this city became the bride of Lieut. Wallace Gove, R.C.A.P.C., son of Mrs. C. Gove and the late Mr. Gove, of Montrose, Scotland.

Rev. J. A. McGinnis of Orillia, Ont., officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. D. Sims played the wedding music and while the register was being signed Mr. Jack Williams sang.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charmingly frocked in turquoise taffeta. Her frock made with flaring skirt and gathered bodice with sweetheart neckline. She wore a bolero jacket with shirred sleeves and tiny cap of pale pink flowers. Her slippers were also pink and she carried pale pink roses and baby's breath.

Both the bride and bridegroom were unattended.

RECEPTION HELD LATER

Reception to immediate members of the family was arranged later and for the occasion the rooms were attractively decorated with summer blossoms. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked on either side by pink and white candles.

Traveling for Mrs. Baxter a becoming hostess gown in blue and white polka dot. Her accessories were white and she wore American Beauty roses en corsage.

Mrs. Campbell chose a smart fuchsia toned frock with harmonizing accessories. She wore Jonquil roses in her corsage.

Lieut. Gove and his bride will take up residence in Edmonton for the present.

Get Rid Of Aging Bulges on Calory-Cutting Diet

A Pleasant, Easy Way To Lose!

How embarrassing for Mrs. Stout! The youthful crowd at the beach confine their invitations to Mrs. Stout's husband, thinking he's her younger brother.

Yes, excess weight can add years to a woman's looks. So resolve now to get the best of unsightly fat, reduce 2 pounds a week with low-calory diet.

Happily, that doesn't mean going hungry. You may have to say no to such fattening tea time snacks as a glass of iced coffee with cream and sugar (135 calories), 2 doughnuts (400). But you can cleverly substitute a low-calory treat that's just as tasty. Iced tea with lemon and sugar is only 35; 3 hermit cookies, 120.

At your regular meals you substitute low-calory foods the same way, with a calory chart as guide. And doesn't this typical reducing dinner sound appetizing? Just 488 calories—and you get ½ cup tomato cocktail, one serving minute steak, ½ cup buttered string beans, ¼ cup scalloped potatoes and one slice angel food.

Get back your youthful good looks. Our 32-page booklet gives low-calory menus for 14 days, explains 3-day liquid diet to start reducing. Has calory chart, recipes for delicious low-calory desserts. Tells how to gain, too.

Send 13c in coin for your copy of "The New Way To A Youthful Figure to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Please allow a week or ten days for delivery.

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

No sweets without vitamins and protein is the rule for the economy budget when you plan a special dessert for Sunday dinner. The following recipes give high nutrient value.

FRESH BLACKBERRY CHIFFON CAKE

Blackberry Chiffon Layer: One envelope plain, unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, ½ cup hot water, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup mashed fresh blackberries, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 egg whites, ¼ cup sugar, ½ cup whipping cream.

Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot water. Add ½ cup sugar, salt, lemon juice and mashed blackberries. Stir well. Cool, and when mixture begins to thicken, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites to which remaining ¼ cup of sugar has been added.

Fold in whipped cream. Have sponge cake bread in spring form pan. Pour the gelatin mixture on cake. Chill. When gelatin layer is firm, remove side of pan and frost cake with whipped cream. Garnish cake or platter with whole blackberries.

Sponge Cake Layer: 2 egg yolks and 1 whole egg, ½ cup sugar, 3 tablespoons boiling water, 1 cup cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Beat eggs until light, add sugar and hot water gradually. Beat well. Sift flour and salt and baking powder together. Add gradually to other mixture. Add vanilla and pour into spring form pan. Bake 40 minutes in moderate oven (350 degrees F.).

Here's an inexpensive Sunday treat, with extra vitamin D and fresh gooseberries.

GOOSEBERRY FLOAT

One pint gooseberries, ½ cup water, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup irradiated evaporated milk. Pick over berries and wash thoroughly. Boil with sugar and water until tender. Press through sieve and chill thoroughly. Chill milk thoroughly and whip until stiff. Fold in cold gooseberry pulp. Pile lightly on soft custard, or else serve on slices of stale sponge cake.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Cantaloupe, waffles with crisp bacon, honey, coffee, milk.

Dinner: Watermelon cup, roast chicken with herb dressing, mashed sweet potatoes, green corn on cob, watercress salad, blackberry chiffon cake, coffee, milk.

Supper: Chicken and green pepper hash on toast, lettuce and tomato salad, gooseberry float on sponge cake, tea, milk.

YOUTHFUL JUMPER For Play and Dress Up

A jumper frock is a thoroughly practical thing. You can wear it as a sun-back dress all morning then slip the neat little blouse on and you are dressed for luncheon. This attractive princess style is becoming in line with its square neck and wide shoulder straps. You can make it in either the regulation or the popular "shortie" length according to your wishes and fancy, but be sure that you have this jumper frock in your summer collection. White cotton or rayon with a candy striped blouse makes you feel and look like a little girl again.

Style No. 3360 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19 years. Size 15 requires 3 yards of 39-inch material for jumper, 1¾ yards for blouse.

Send twenty cents for pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size you wish.

Address pattern department, The Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta.

The New Summer Fashion Book is a "must" for a smart wardrobe. The full color illustrations of over a hundred styles will help you select your clothes for all occasions. Send for your copy today. The price is 15 cents.

Minute Make-Ups

When you have mosquito bites, get scratched or find that suddenly you have a bump on your chin, use make-up to cover the spot. All you have to do is to use a spot of special foundation make-up, powder over it and there you are—presenting a perfectly groomed complexion.

More than half a million dollars have been expended in exploration on Mount Everest, world's highest peak.

Dorothy Dix Says:

The money question is just as controversial in the home as it is in politics, and balancing the budget brings on as many domestic fights as it does in parliament. The is the case, as a rule, when either the husband or the wife takes the pocketbook. The party of the other part always thinks that he or she is a regular old miser, and the expenditures of the other, and woe betide the unlucky man who has brought a folding roll with the intention of buying a new suit, or on a facial and a new wave, or to treat the family to a movie, will be blown in $15 on a new hat that he's ashamed to wear, or the $5 bill will be invested in cigarettes and golf balls.

Here is a letter from a business woman: "I have worked earnestly to get ahead," she writes, "and at the age of 35 I have a fine social position and am earning more than many men of my age. Ever since I have been out of school I have supported my parents, both of whom are old and feeble and not able to help themselves.

"Now my problem is this: Last year I was married and my husband cannot become reconciled to the fact that a good bit of the money I earn must go to the support of my parents.

"Since I have the entire responsibility of my household and am willing to work to help my own family, which certainly includes my parents as well as my husband, I feel that what I do with my money is my own business.

"I am not going to discontinue helping my parents as long as they need it, but this continual arguing over money is undermining the very foundation of our marriage.

And it is. Nothing could more completely shatter a wife's love and respect for her husband than to find out that he regarded her merely as a goon whose wages belong to him, and that she has no right to the money she earned.

Of course, women often take the same attitude toward their parents and in both cases the reaction of the men and women who have to help their families by stealth is the same. They resort to utterly despicable slave-driving generally.

100 Women Given Drill Instruction At Corps Meeting

Elementary military training was given 100 women attending the meeting of the Alberta Women's Service Corps held in the Memorial hall one afternoon this week when two instructors from the Veterans' Volunteer Reserve conducted the drill. Training classes will continue throughout the month and 24 officers will be appointed to take charge of the different classes.

In September the corps will be thrown open to the public and the members trained in clerical duties.

Your Baby And Mine

The child has to be slid into, not pushed into new habits. For unless he is ready for them—and therefore they are welcomed—the new habits should be started as cautiously as in a new food.

If the baby has been taking a bottle for nine months, of course he isn't going to enjoy cup-feeding as well. He wants that old familiar bottle, around which his hands can be folded while the warm liquid trickles into his empty stomach.

But no matter how well he likes the bottle he can't go on taking milk from it. He has to grow up. He has to get away from infantile habits of eating so that he will get away from other habits linked with infancy. But instead of saying abruptly, "No more bottle," as the mother may as well have to do if the habit goes on much past the first year, she can, instead, present the glass as if it were something he and Daddy were sure to enjoy enormously.

In effect she says, "Just try a sip from this, darling. Isn't that fun? Mother is going to see if you can drink without choking or spilling a drop!" While he is still flushed with victory and pleasantly inflated with the glass, take it away and finish the meal with the bottle. Next time add just a little more to the glass, showing him again how proud and approving you are of his efforts. When he shows the slightest sign of fatigue, bring on the bottle.

Put the milk into a small glass, which his hands can encircle. And some of our nursery school teachers have discovered that babies like thick-rimmed cups and glasses. The baby will drink milk from an old kitchen cup when he won't taste it from a thin-rimmed glass.

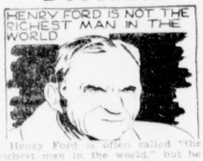

SERVE WARM OR COOL

Cater to his desires. Let him have the thick-rimmed glass. Don't tire him with either cups or glasses. Let him learn slowly and without irritation that milk is a pleasure and nicer way to get his daily milk. Heat it or serve it cool, whichever pleases the baby. Baby's passion is begun at nine months and progresses slowly by bottles ought to be out of the picture by 11 or 12 months. And how glad the mother will be when they are.

Our leaflet on "Spoon and Cup Feeding" may be obtained by sending a stamped, addressed envelope with request with a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your letter to Mrs. Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Marsie Meyer Eldred will answer your questions about diet, general care and management of children if you will send a three-cent, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your letter to Mrs. Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Debunker

Henry Ford is often called "the richest man in the world," but he is far from being that. Experts in a position to know the facts say only a pious and pseudo-pauper ruler of Hyderabad, which is one of the richest states in autonomous states of India. Over 70 years of age, Ali Khan rules with an iron hand and his private income is estimated at $50,000,000, derived mostly from properties of his ancient Indian throne.

First aid, motor transport, commissary and canteen, Mr. L. H. Irwin commander of "D" company of the 49th, and Mr. L. L. Isaac, assistant adjudicator of the South Edmonton battalion, were drill instructors.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons are absorbed into the blood, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes its so good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you "step up." Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Insist! Refuse anything else. 25c.

What To Do

I am giving a farewell party for one of my friends and I wish you would suggest a game of two that would be entertaining to girls and boys. No pencil and paper games, please.

MISS E. M. G.

Answer—Try the hilarious game of Automobile to make your party merry and entertaining. Give each person the name of some part of an automobile, for instance, steering wheels, fenders, windshield, etc. Then choose some one to tell a story, making up something thrilling about an automobile trip. As each part of the automobile or its equipment is mentioned, the person representing that part must get up and turn around three times. Whenever the story-teller mentions the word automobile, all players must change places. This gives the story-teller a chance to scramble for a seat in the mix-up and the one left just becomes the next story-teller.

FIVE TO ONE VOTE records family choice. In a recent Dominion-wide survey, housewives were asked: "What ready-to-eat cereal is favourite in your family?" As compared with any other corn flake mentioned, the vote was Kellogg's five to one! Taste experts check with housewives. After a bite-for-taste test of all four brands of corn flakes Mr. W. B. Preserved Peaches . . . Open-Kettle Method

Boil sugar and water 10 minutes to make a thin syrup. Cook peaches, whole or cut in pieces, small quantity at a time, in syrup. Fill hot sterilized jars with fruit and add enough syrup to overflow jars. If there is not sufficient syrup, add boiling water, as jars must be filled to overflow. Introduce a spoon between fruit and jar, that air bubbles may rise to top and break. Quickly put on rubbers and half seal covers. Process jars in boiling hot water bath 5 minutes. Remove, complete seal, cool, label and store. Place jars on cloth wrung out of hot water while filling.

REPORTS FAIL TO ROUSE MARKET

WINNIPEG, Aug. 9.—Private reports from Europe of a serious wheat shortage this year failed to rouse buying interest on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today as only a few trades in the October future were reported at the pegged minimum level of 73⅝ cents a bushel.

A suggestion of some export business in wheat could not be confirmed. The session was generally dull with December future failing to open.

Your Figure, Madame! By IDA JEAN KAIN

Presenting radio songbird Jean Dickenson, demonstrating two exercises guaranteed to do things for the figure: On the left, a stretching and bending exercise designed to slim the waistline; on the right a knee-flexing, arm-fling ing stunt for the midriff.

Summer is the careless season—the hair has a way of getting blowsy, the skin looks weather-beaten, and the waistline slips its moorings. And the fall styles, so help us, will feature the waistline right where nature intended it to be!

That's the cue to start now to get yours down where it belongs. If you are in doubt that waist makes haste, just check that measurement against what it was last spring. Hah! you thought it would be as neat and tidy as ever—but more likely there's some over-lap!

Your muscles lose their snap fast in the summer. The midsection muscles that should be strong and firm go soft and bulgy—you can't possibly look trim this fall unless you do some trimming. Here is a trio of exercises that will help you to do it. Take them in the cool of the morning and get them over with.

TRIO OF EXERCISES

1—Position: Double your skip rope, or take a wand, and hold it high overhead with hands wide apart and the arms straight. Stand stretched tall, feet together.

Movement: Holding the arms straight, bend acutely to the left, getting a thorough stretch all along the right side. Stand erect, stretch tall, then bend acutely to the right. The important things to be remembered in this exercise are to concentrate the stretch between the ribs and hips, and to pull up with the lower abdominal muscles as you bend. Do the exercise slowly and accurately, repeating five times for each side.

2—Position: Stand erect with arms down at sides, feet together.

Movement: Flex the right knee, bringing it high up toward the chest. At the same time, fling the left arm straight up in front, the right arm straight out in back, both about shoulder level. Return to position and continue, flexing the knee and swinging the arms rhythmically. Alternate the knee and arm action, continuing for 12 counts. Be sure to pull up constantly with the lower abdominal muscles and keep chest and head lifted.

3—Position: Lie on the back on the floor with the hands clasped back of the head and the elbows straight out at the sides, on the floor. Have legs extended straight down and hold them together throughout the exercise.

Movement: Keeping the elbows and the upper shoulders flat on the floor, flex the knees, rolling the hips over to the left and pointing the knees downward, hard! Draw the knees up, roll over to the right, and point knees down, hard. It is essential that the elbows and shoulders be kept on the floor all the time. Otherwise, you lose part of the twist and stretch at the waist. This exercise may seem somewhat involved when you first try it, but actually it is simple—and extremely effective.

YOUR DIETITIAN,
Ida Jean Kain.

The U. S. wheat carryover June 30, 1940, has been placed at 284,000,000 bus. vs. 254,000,000 last year and 153,000,00 in 1938. This is largest carryover of old wheat since 1932 when 382,000,000 were carried over. In 1932 391,000,000 were carried over, in 1931 323 million and in 1930 294 million. These were the four years when the U. S. farm board held heavy stocks. Normally American carries over 125,000,000 bus. of old wheat but with the population increased in recent years and the government anxious to build up an ever-normal granary it is believed that 200,000,000 bus. should be carried into the new season—the farmers are carrying only 85,500,000 of the 284,000,000 bus., the balance is in the hands of the millers, merchants and the Commodity Credit Corporation. Liverpool cabled that a private estimate received there placed the Spanish wheat crop at 120 million bus. or about twenty-four million bus. below requirements. Some years ago this country used to harvest a crop of around 170 million, but the revolution resulted in considerable damage to fields and equipment from which it may take many years to recover, with moderate imports from neighboring countries it would appear that twenty million bus. will have to be imported overseas this cereal year. Due to confiscation of foodstuffs from conquered countries Germany has now been able to increase bread ration to the civilian population and it has been reported that French food is appearing in the restaurants already. The bread ration in Belgium is exceeded by fifty per cent. in Germany today. Belgium usually imports forty million bushels of wheat a season and Holland about 20 million. In addition to some flour Germany usually imports 25 million bus. of wheat a year and Italy about a similar amount.

10,000 MEN TO BE NEEDED FOR HARVEST

WINNIPEG, Aug. 9. — Wheat farmers of western Canada will have to hire about 10,000 harvesters this summer, The Winnipeg Free Press reported yesterday after a survey of the prairie farmlands.

A better than average crop is anticipated for the western wheat belt which produced almost 500,000,000 bushels last summer and the number of additional men needed to reap the crop will be "substantially higher than the number required last year" the report said. This year's harvest is expected to reach at least 400,000,000 bushels.

Approximately 4,000 harvesters in addition to full time help are expected to be needed in Alberta if the present promising outlook materializes. Manitoba producers will have to add more than 2,500 temporary workers to their payrolls while Saskatchewan's harvest will require the help of almost 3,400 additional men.

The survey indicated that harvest wages in Manitoba range from $1.50 to $3 a day while farmers in the good crop districts of west central Saskatchewan are paying more than $3 daily. Wage rates in Alberta's harvest fields show wide variations, ranging from $2 to $4 each day.

Missing Aviator Is Found Unhurt By Fishermen

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Aug. 9.—Louis Poulin, Lakehead flier who was forced down near Lake Nipigon Sunday, was found today by fisherman at the mouth of McIntyre Bay. He was reported unhurt.

The plane, which was equipped with pontoons, was forced down by lack of fuel and had been the object of a widespread airplane search by members of the Lakehead Flying club and the Ontario Forestry branch.

$500,000 War Order Placed In City For Soldiers' Uniforms

Believed to be one of the largest contracts placed in western Canada for clothing requirements for the Canadian forces, an order for approximately 100,000 khaki summer uniforms involving an approximate cost of $500,000 has been placed with the Great Western Garment Co., Ltd. of this city, it was learned Friday.

It was announced at Ottawa Thursday night by Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply, that a contract for $273,274 had been given to the Edmonton firm last week. An order amounting to around $250,000 was placed with the same firm a short time ago.

The entire plant, located on 97 street at 103 avenue, has been turned over to manufacturing military uniforms. C. A. Graham, president of the firm, said Friday the plant was operating on a full time schedule in fulfilling the war contracts, and had increased its staff by 125, bringing the total number of employees to over 400. Certain equipment changes were necessary to handle the new war orders.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

City police officers, other than traffic men, are not permitted to wear dark sun glasses. Many of them complain of eye soreness as a result of the hot glaring sun. The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter decided to invite a few opinions from old John Q. Public on this question today.

THE ANSWERS

BUSTER FRENCH, 10520 106 Ave.: I am inclined to believe that the rule is a proper one. I don't think any person can see so well with sun glasses, although they do keep the glare from your eyes. In my own case, I know that I miss seeing lots of things when I wear sun glasses.

* * *

CARTER ELLIOTT, 10150 121 St.: Anything that adds to the comfort of a person should tend to increase his efficiency. I certainly think the police should be permitted to wear dark glasses, as there's nothing so precious as eye-sight.

* * *

ELLEN SWABB, 10024 107 St.: I hate to think of the fine boys in blue suffering from sore eyes, but I think policemen, of all people, should see clearly and about everything that's going on. If dark glasses obscure the vision, even slightly, then they should not be worn by policemen.

* * *

EVELYN LINDBERGH, Alberta Block: I know so many policemen with such lovely, dreamy eyes. I think it would be a shame to have such grand eyes covered over. After all, a man's duty in uniform should at least be permitted to gaze into the eyes of her protector, don't you think?

* * *

MOTORIST, who just finished "cashing in" a ticket for parking too long: Let them wear blinders, blinkers, sun glasses and what have you. They certainly see far too much to suit me.

THE HUMAN EYE

By Jackson Bros., Optometrist

It is little enough tribute to pay to nature's untold efforts that man should exert all his skill and ingenuity in preserving and extending the usefulness of the human eye she went to such pains to develop. Good eyes should be given good care. Eyes that falter under the strain of modern living should be carefully watched, examined at regular intervals. When necessary as with nearly seven out of ten of us, their defects should be corrected by the use of helping lenses of eyeglasses. Just as we use more than one lens in a microscope or telescope, so we should assist the lens of the eye itself. And these glasses should be the best obtainable.

Remember Man is what he is today very largely because of the marvel of vision. Greater health, greater progress, greater success, greater happiness are in store for us if we will just take the necessary steps so that we shall continue to see like human beings.

Visit our eyesight clinic which is open to you every day except Sundays and holidays, and have our registered Optometrist who holds his diploma by university examinations, advise you regarding your eyesight.

If you need glasses, you may have the use of them, while paying for them, by using our well established easy payment plan, in weekly or monthly payments.

CREDIT UNIONS LEND $171,608 REPORT SHOWS

32 Unions Incorporated With Membership Of 3,044 Albertans

Since the inception of the credit union movement in Alberta, established unions have loaned to members a total of $171,608.68, it was disclosed Friday by the consolidated balance sheet issued with the annual report of the supervisor of credit unions. The report was released Friday by Hon. Ernest C. Manning, minister of trade and industry.

The supervisor of credit unions is John Grant.

There are now 32 credit unions incorporated with a total membership of 3,044 and total assets of $77,046.62.

DIVIDENDS ARE PAID

Since credit unions may be formed only by persons having a common bond or interest, the number chartered to date is made up of three groups—occupational, residential and associational.

It is stated that several of the unions paid dividends ranging from two and one-half to five per cent after setting up suitable reserves and paying for expenses.

Total dividend payments amounted to $705.85, which is considered encouraging in view of the short term of operating.

An analysis of the loan records of a typical credit union shows that 18.8 per cent of loans to members were granted for the consolidation of old bills; 14.4 per cent for property improvements; 14.3 per cent for household furnishings; 11.2 per cent for medical and hospital expenses; 20.4 for automobiles. The remaining loans side investments, insurance and were obtained for recreation, outgifts.

"In Alberta the educational aspect of the credit union movement has been emphasized as the prime essential," the report states, "and while this precludes any rapid or spectacular development in the number of credit unions chartered, it is likely to insure more lasting benefits. The formation of study groups is the essential first step toward the organization of a credit union."

EDUCATIONAL FORCE

As a factor in the development of an essential adult educational program, the report continues, is a strong force, the report continues. In addition to the many social values obtained by regular and harmonious meetings with others, the groups are invaluable means to the ordinary citizen to find out how, by co-operative effort, people may help themselves.

"It is no exaggeration to say that 75 per cent of all our individual business problems in Western Canada are directly or indirectly the result of ignorance regarding the proper use of credit. As credit unions deal primarily with the practical use of credit, they go right to the root of our present day troubles. Consequently, as adult education, a way of learning by doing, credit unions are invaluable."

In order to maintain ethical business practices, an annual check on the affairs of every union is carried out by the administering division, while the interests of the movement are looked after by Credit Unions Executives Associations in Edmonton and Calgary.

How Does A Crook Feel?

He's Innocent But Police Grab Him

Newspaper Scribe Knows

By JACK DeLONG

How does it feel to be a crook? The Bulletin's police reporter knows and take it from him, it gives you that sinking feeling.

In case it isn't quite clear what we're talking about, it's like this, folks.

The Bulletin reporter and another newspaperman were over at the city police station, trying to dig up the latest in the way of criminal happenings Friday morning, when they were seized with considerable force by Det. Alex Stevenson and another officer and propelled with speed into the "booking-in" room.

BACKS AGAINST WALL

"Stand there," Det. Stevenson ordered the more or less bewildered newshawks, as he waved toward a line of assorted human beings with their backs against the wall.

Now, perhaps a person should start to orate about habeas corpus, Magna Carta, the Criminal Code and all the other such like things. The funny thing is that you don't. The chances are 100 to one that you'll do as the newshawks did—go and stand where you are told to stand.

Pretty soon in comes a citizen who had been robbed and who figured he could identify the gent who robbed him.

"Do you see him in that bunch?"

asked a policeman, who seemed to get quite a kick out of the proceedings.

MIGHTY SHARP EYE

The robbery victim, with an eye that looked mighty sharp and which fairly burned in his head, slowly swept the line of about ten, and, oh, what a devastating once-over he gave us.

It's funny. We hadn't done a darned thing. But if ever a guy felt guilty of something or other it was this Bulletin reporter.

The third scrutiny was finally completed and the robbery victim said he hadn't seen the chap who robbed him.

Thank heaven for that. It was certainly a narrow escape. It was certainly a narrow escape. Well, never do it again, we decided as we wiped the perspiration from our brow.

AN EXPLANATION

(Editors Note: Just in case readers may have received the impression from the foregoing that the newspaper scribes may have been suspected of being thugs, we might explain that innocent and guilty alike are placed in line identification line-ups. That is to prevent the complainant pretending to identify a criminal when he can't. For instance, if he names an innocent party it's proof positive he doesn't know the guilty one).

AROUND THE TOWN

Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, leaves on Saturday for Banff and other southern Alberta points where he will holiday until the end of the month. He will be accompanied by his family.

A former resident of Edmonton, John A. McMillan, 76, died last week at his home in Vancouver. He was an employee in the Dominion government livestock branch here for many years before moving to the coast city about 10 years ago. He leaves his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Thrussell.

Premier Aberhart left on Friday for Calgary where he will spend the week-end. He is scheduled to address the Prophetic Bible Institute Sunday afternoon. Returning here following the address, he is expected to leave Monday for Vancouver for his annual vacation. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Aberhart.

Making a study of the C.C.F. movement in preparation for his thesis, Leonard T. Calvert, a student at the school of public and international affairs, Princeton University, Princeton, N.J., is in the city studying newspaper files and other material in tracing the history of the C.C.F. movement. He is en route back east after travelling from Toronto to Vancouver.

Mrs. Frances Shaw, 58, wife of James Shaw, 10073 152 street, died Thursday. She leaves besides her husband, one daughter, Mrs. M. Stordahl, Edmonton, and two sons, William and John, both of Edmonton, and one sister and three brothers all of Fairfield, Ireland. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the family residence with Rev. C. Storey officiating. Interment will take place in the Edmonton cemetery. Howard and McBride are in charge of arrangements.

Through The Mill

It may be that the accused had heard of the Statute of Limitations, which is supposed to render null and void all debts more than seven years old, but at any rate his methods of collecting were both abrupt and highly illegal. All of which leads up to the fact that a fellow accused of threatening to shoot another fellow over a debt allegedly incurred about seven years ago, was placed on suspended sentence for one year and put under bond of $1,000 to keep the peace.

According to the story told the court by the lawyer of the accused, his client had been "in the money" about seven years ago. A prominent jeweler had approached accused and had shown him a diamond ring, alleged to be worth $1,500. The jeweler said he needed some money and that the ring would be a "steal" at $750.

"He said I could get the $750 back any time I wanted to redeem the ring," according to accused. He seems that about three weeks later accused went to the jeweler with the ring and asked for the $750 as per agreement. "I don't know you," was the astonishing greeting, accused claims he received. Finally, after some wrangling, accused succeeded in $250 from the jeweler for the ring.

For nearly seven years the affair bothered accused. He's Irish, and a smouldering Irish temper has just got to break into flame in that length of time. The other day it happened, with the results as recorded previously. Warned by the court, accused said: "It just had to reach a climax. It's out of my system now."

A man charged with theft of a car was remanded until August 14, while a chap charged with vagrancy had his case set over one day.

A city dairyman pleaded guilty in police court Friday to driving a lame horse and was fined $5 and costs with the option of 10 days in jail. Acting Constable Arthur Officer H. J. Jones, who stated he had previously warned the accused.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. from Andrews' funeral chapel for Mrs. Agnete Cornelissen, 78, of Edmonton. She was the wife of Arthur, at Rio Grande, Alta., one daughter, Mrs. S. E. Noland of Humboldt, Iowa, two stepsons, Alfred and Adolf, Edmonton, one stepdaughter, Mrs. C. T. Blockenstaff, one brother, Mr. Hans Jensen, Bardo, Alta. Rev. C. S. Lystig will officiate and interment will take place in the Beechmount cemetery.

Relentless enforcement of the by-law prohibiting bathing in the river continued Friday when three more persons, two adults and a juvenile, were charged by police with breaches of the by-law. Six juveniles were charged with the offense Thursday and are scheduled to appear in juvenile court. Const. W. Bissett, who made the arrests, also apprehended the illegal bathers Friday. All were discovered on the north side of the river, near 84 street. Acting Chief Const. M. Blackwood stresses the fact that the preservations are being made purely in the interests of safety as the river is high and very dangerous for swimming purposes at the present time.

Meeting Postponed

A meeting of the City Bylaws Committee called to discuss the power situation on Friday afternoon was postponed until next week.

Military Orders

VETERANS' VOLUNTEER RESERVE

A Company, Edmonton North Battalion, will parade at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, August 9, on Westmount school grounds. Any veteran living west of 121 street, and including Calder and Parkdale, eligible for membership.—A. W. Taylor.

Is Chairman

KENNETH P. DUGGAN, national president of the Kinsmen Clubs of Canada, who is chairman of the two-day business session of the national association, which opened Friday morning in the Macdonald hotel. Kinsmen delegates will discuss means by which they may assist in Canada's war effort.

KINSMEN CLUB SESSION HERE STUDYING WAR

National Association Seeks To Assist In Dominion's Effort

Attended by 45 to 50 delegates from cities across Canada, the two-day business session of the national association of Kinsmen Clubs of Canada opened Friday morning in the Macdonald hotel. Kenneth P. Duggan of Edmonton, national president, was chairman.

Main purpose of the meeting here is to discuss ways and means by which the Kinsmen clubs may best assist in Canada's war effort. Edmonton and Saskatoon clubs already have made cash contributions to the Dominion government and another club has a "Lick Hitler" drive campaign.

Members of the Edmonton club have volunteered their services to assist in the national registration.

National officers at the convention are Mr. Duggan, president; A. L. Galbraith, Windsor, vice-president; Roger Bourque, Quebec, second vice-president; W. Pollitt, treasurer; A. B. Carlaw, registrar; William G. Montgomery, historian. All the officers except Mr. Galbraith are from Edmonton.

The planned convention, which would have been attended by some 500 members, was cancelled owing to the ban.

The delegates were welcomed to the city by Acting Mayor Alf Blair Palen, who expressed his pleasure at their visit to the city and said he felt sure they would enjoy their stay here.

Professor Finds Crow Shortage

There appears to be a scarcity of crows in the Tofield district, Dr. Mrs. Flora Isabel Macbeth, zoology at the University of Alberta, found this week when trapping the birds for experimental purposes. Dr. Macbeth has been engaged for about 25 birds, while normally a flock of 250 would have been expected, she said. Dr. Rowan and his assistant, Dr. Lack, are engaged in capturing 500 live crows for a new bird migration experiment here on the U. of A. campus. The purpose of Dr. Mac's project is to determine the effect of increasing hours of light and intensity on migration.

The participants in the experiment will be wired and use a "Jack Miner" crow trap to see if they can increase the catch.

Silver "Bullets" Will Be Laid On Streets Saturday

Trail of silver "bullets" that will later become tracer bullets to be fired at Hitler's Nazi raiders will be laid Saturday by patriotic Edmontonians, when the campaign to raise $100,000 for purchase of a Bolingbroke bomber, sponsored by the Legion of Frontiersmen (Imperial Command) gets underway here.

H. S. Reynolds, commandant, western command, of the Legion announced Friday the plans for the silver trail here. Starting early Saturday morning, citizens desiring to donate will be asked to place their silver coins on the sidewalk bordering the east side of 101 street, from Jasper avenue north.

No tags will be given to donors, but authorized women workers will collect the coins for the Frontiersmen's organization. The women will wear armbands.

The coins should be placed not further than three feet from the curb. It will, of course, be a desirable situation if coins become so numerous they will have to be placed edge to edge.

Uniformed members of the Legion will be on duty in the afternoon along the route of the trail of silver.

This is the first time that such a novel method of raising funds has been resorted to in Edmonton. In Victoria, B.C., where it has been tried, results were highly gratifying and Frontiersmen here feel confident that the fund will get off to a flying start Saturday.

SUMMER THEATRE

By MILDRED WILLIAMS

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JOHNNY REGAN, young man in love with two girls.

JEAN REYNOLDS, Johnny's sweetheart since childhood.

MOLLY TRAVERS, ambitious young actress.

ANDRE MASTERS, the Theatre's leading man.

Yesterday: Johnny and Jean save the precious antiques from the burning theatre. Jean's hands are burned. When Johnny asks help in returning the items to their owners she theatre folk say it is not their responsibility. Johnny enlists Mrs. Arnolda's help; gets all the stuff back safely. Jean is grateful; promises Johnny the names to a wedding present. Johnny refuses. The cameo is the only prop that has not been returned.

CHAPTER X

THE fact that Jean Reynolds had given him the cameo for Molly made little difference to Johnny that night of the Capetown fire. He wandered through the still streets like a man in a stupor. He didn't want to see Molly, and so he went home to bed instead of meeting Jean and Masters at the Capetown Inn.

It was noon when he awoke. He went to the mirror and looked at himself. His face was still smudged with soot and his eyebrows were singed. Not a romantic figure, he thought, and tried to arrange in some logical order the events of the night before.

Jean had given him the cameo. He must find Molly and tell her the good news. He tried to imagine the thrill of Molly's kisses in gratitude, but he could only remember Molly and Masters as silhouetted against the red glow of the smouldering theatre.

Jean had said that Molly was interested in Masters. Was she? Johnny would find out. Then he would know just where he stood with her. Did she love him or the cameo?

At the Blue Whale he ordered breakfast, then telephoned the Mellons' home. Jean answered.

"Jean, a lot better, and you two are heroes. I'm tired of answering the phone and hearing people praise you. Johnny, I'm free— when I know Jean did most of it."

"Still love me to death, don't you, Sue? Well, tell Jean I'm glad she's better."

Johnny bolted his breakfast and went around to 43 Cottage street.

Miss Travers and Mr. Masters left early this morning, for Dennis."

"What's the big idea?" Johnny wanted to know. He remembered that Molly couldn't have found him if she had wanted to. He was dead asleep in his garage, and she hadn't even been there. "What time will they be back?"

"Back about supper time, they said."

Johnny thanked them and went to while away the four hours intervening at the Mellons'.

Jean came across the lawn to meet him. She waved her smoking gloves. "Want to fight?" she asked.

Everyone was talking about the fire. Johnny didn't answer them. He dropped on the grass beside Jean, and they watched a croquet game.

"What did Molly say when you told her it was you who saved it? I thought at least she'd call to thank me for my belated generosity."

"She and Masters have gone to Dennis. I just got up. Jean, I've got to get back to the city, subject. He asked she wouldn't talk about Molly."

"Masters could help her a lot in the theatre. He knows everybody. She calls him a wedge. Johnny, I'm wedging in grand style."

"He put a speed on the theatre as she. I mean to run at least talk about something else. Has Jean about anything. He was fond of every old piece I got for the set."

"Molly says he's particularly fond of old jewelry," Johnny said idly. "I suppose Jean gave it to me my cameo to get something out of Masters."

"Of course not, silly. Been reading a melodrama?"

She laughed then, and put one hand, bandaged from the fire, on his. "I'll miss you, Johnny, after you and Molly are married."

Johnny took the hand in his. He said it wasn't going to get your names back for you, Jean. I haven't seen Molly yet, that's why I'm here. I will."

He had a pleasant afternoon, lying on the lawn beside Jean's deck chair. It was nearly twilight when he decided to go to Molly.

Miss Travers isn't back yet," he was told at Molly's boarding house. He smiled and went out.

He sat in the porch swing and began a crossword puzzle. How long ago it was that he had first sat here and done a puzzle! He remembered the feverish excitement and enthusiasm with which he anticipated that first date. How he was going to make her love him. He had taught himself thinking. Was it possible that the fever was over? How easily he had slipped back into his relationship with Jean.

His pencil was making little squares on the paper. He was installing the squares. JRR, he wrote and under that, Jean Reynolds Regan.

* * *

When Masters' green roadster drew up at the curb, Johnny jumped the railing and ran down the walk. Molly was lying back against the cushion. She was more lovely than he remembered her.

"Have a good time?" he asked.

"We missed you last night," Molly said accusingly. "Where were you?"

"I went home and went to bed. Slept till noon. Why didn't you tell me you were going?"

Molly shrugged. "Didn't want to interrupt your dreaming. All business."

Masters took a cigarette from a tooled leather case and said: "Beautiful scenery up the Cape. Quaint little town, Dennis. I'm to play there week after next."

"And, Johnny, I ..."

"Must be going, my dear," Masters interrupted. "Nice day."

He leaned over to start the motor and Johnny opened the door for Molly to get out. But in that brief moment Johnny understood something. Masters and Molly. They might not love each other, but their worlds were the same.

"Did you meet any big producers?" Johnny asked Molly. "I assume that's what you meant by business."

"Not only that, but I have a contract." She dug in her handbag and Johnny looked at it. It was signed by Harry Babbitt, an ingenue part for the fall show.

"I'm glad," Johnny said. "And now that all that is settled, I'd like to give the cameo back to Jean."

Molly sat down in the swing and didn't answer.

"I thought it was to be some sort of wedding present for us. And I want to tell you, Johnny, with the position all signed, maybe we'd better postpone the wedding ..."

"Just as you like," said Johnny firmly, "but I want to give the cameo back now. I told you last night Jean wouldn't sell it."

Molly looked at him. She seemed to be thinking of something.

"I'll go get it," she said, and then her hand flew to her throat. "Why, Johnny, Johnny, darling, I can't get it. I just remembered. It was on Mrs. Lyons' dress, hanging on the rack ready for me to put on."

Arrows Handcuffed By Stampeders' Boss

PONOKA'S ability to hit when a hit meant a run paid off again last night at Renfrew Park when the Stampeders punched out an 8-3 victory over the Edmonton Arrows, ending a five-game winning streak for Harney and Company.

Lefty Belter, who had previously met with some success in taming the pounding Ponoka club, was shelled from the pitching mound last night at the end of the third and repiaced by Billy Lupul. Skipper Charlie Lewis, working a slick curve ball, pitched the full distance for his Stampeders.

Lewis held the Arrows to two singles the first six innings. By this time his team mates had hammered [illegible] for the Arrows scored [illegible] seventh and two hits and one run in the eighth.

MACCABEES SCORE 11-5 WIN OVER PODERSKYS

Mike Jacobs Determined To Buy Dodgers Alone

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—If and when Mike Jacobs buys the Brooklyn Baseball Dodgers—and Mike says it's more "when" than "if" right now—the only "syndicate" involved will be Michael Strauss Jacobs, himself, alone.

Laughing at the talk that he's only one of a group in the deal, "Uncle Mike" explained carefully today that up to now it has been strictly a "lone wolf" proposition in all the negotiations, which he figures may wind up in time for him to take over the club before the end of the season.

"Why should I take a lot of other men in the thing?" he asked. "The bank (Brooklyn Trust Company, which controls 51 per cent of the Dodger stock) came to me as an individual and started the negotiations. We've reached the stage now where we're going to get down to talking price."

Mike can't see how any hitch can come into the sale now. He doesn't think any of the other club owners will stand in his way. The Trust Company and the other stockholders are to sit down to a meeting today to iron out details, and after that the fight promoter figures it's just a breeze.

Incidentally, Mike has no idea of giving up fight promoting just because he may own a big league ball club.

"I get too much of a kick out of putting on fights, and maneuvering around," he said. "Why should I quit?"

Negotiations for the Dodgers started the night of the Lew Jenkins-Henry Armstrong bout, July 17. Mike and George V. McLaughlin, Brooklyn Trust Company vice-president, had their final meeting then, and two days later Mike was given all the figures on the club's attendance, costs and farm system. He doesn't know yet what the price will be, but the guess is within shouting distance of $2,000,000.

Cricket Notes

The following members of the Canadian Legion Cricket club are requested to be on hand for the scheduled game with the Civil Service Cricket club on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Stadium: J. Edwards, M. Gratin, M. Buckley, F. Williams, B. Griffith, T. Windsor, J. Cruickshank, R. Day, T. Maddison, B. Neas, B. Hales.

Any player unable to play is asked to phone 71827.

GARRISON RIFLE UNIT WILL SHOOT SUNDAY MORNING

The Edmonton Garrison Rifle Association will hold its regular Sunday morning shoot at the Wintertburn range. Lt. Col. P. E. Bowen announced at the unit's regular Thursday night meeting. Cars will leave Jasper and 100 street at 8.30 a.m. with shooting starting at 9.00 a.m. sharp.

Thursday night's meeting was featured by an illustrated lecture on rifle shooting by Lt. Col. Bowen, long one of the finest marksmen in Western Canada. Squad drill completed the evening's program.

Additional mobility has been provided for this home defence body by the enrollment of a squad of motorcycle men, each of whom has his own machine. Arrangements have also been made for the use of a couple of planes in the event of an emergency.

PRAIRIE HORSES WIN ALL PLACES COAST FEATURE

VANCOUVER, Aug. 9.—Temperament got the nod in a photo finish in the fifth and feature race at Lansdowne park Thursday. An outsider, Contributor, put on a last-minute burst of speed to take the place with Simtee third.

The winner paid $4.25, $3.25 and $2.30. Contributor returned $9.10 and $3.80, while Simtee paid $2.40.

Orangeworth, played slightly in the mutuels, took the second race to pay $20.80 straight and combined with Glass Eyes in the first to pay $80.05 for the first daily double.

Hi-Ginny surprised in the seventh to win driving and pay $12.85 for nose bets, while Sinkesley was second and paid $11.10 for place bets.

The second daily double, Honeysweet in the sixth to Hi-Ginny, paid $41.00.

Orillia Wins

ORILLIA, Aug. 9.—Orillia Terriers whipped Mimico Mountaineers 11-4 in an Ontario Lacrosse association game Thursday night and gained undisputed possession of second place behind St. Catharines Athletics.

The Boss

Completing his sixteenth year as a racing official on the western Canadian racing circuit, George W. Schilling will occupy the dual role of presiding steward and racing secretary during Edmonton's second summer race meeting which begins on Saturday. Mr. Schilling is also president and general manager of the Agua Caliente race course in Mexico.

Malone Has Big Day In Softball Playoff

MACCABEES took an 11-5 win from Podersky's Furniture at Kingsway park Thursday night in the first of the final games for the city title in men's senior softball. The losers were on top from the second inning until the avalanche of runs in the eighth. Five runners scampered across home plate in that inning when Podersky's forgot to shut the gate. One hit, a walk and three errors did the damage.

Malone helped himself to four hits in four times at bat to boost his batting average for the quartet of games in the play-off series to .583. The Furniture team got two more hits than the winners but had 14 men left on bases. Colter had three safe bingles in four efforts. Superstien did great work in the outfield for the Maccabees, covering all the territory he could see and getting four put-outs in the tall grass.

Podersky's started out in the first spasm as if they meant to do things in a big way, scoring two runs. Wes Hall sent one a-soaring far to the centre fielder, who let it get away and Harris made the trip to home port. Colter singled to centre and went to second on a passed ball, scoring on the wild throw following Livingstone's grounder. In the second, Harris and Colter walked and Chisholm and Sneddon both hit, making two more counters.

The Maccabees finally got a start in the fourth inning. Shecter singled and Superstien was safe on an error. Fefferman also drew free transportation and the short-stop scored when a forece-out was being made on Skeeter's grounder. A smart double play here shut off further runs as Solowich hit to Harris who threw to Colter and the latter got Shecter going to second. The losers made another double killing in the sixth.

In the fifth Lutsky got a pass, was sent to third on Brown's double and home when Ostravsky angled. Brown came home on an error in handling Chobochuk's roller. Ostravsky scored when a balk was called.

The eighth started with a walk for Shecter, Superstien made an infield hit and one run was in when two errors followed. Fefferman's ground ball, Superstien also scored on Skeeter's and so did Brown, Solowich and Lutsky.

In the last inning Sid Ostravsky doubled and Brown, Fefferman and Shecter all hit safely, which along with an error, sent the score board in two more.

IN loving memory of our dear husband and daddy, Mr. J. Helm, who passed away August 9, 1931.
What would we give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see;
To hear his voice and see his smiles,
That meant so much to us.
—Ever remembered by his Wife and Children.

IN loving memory of Frances M. Wilson, who passed away August 9, 1938.
In our home she is fondly remembered,
Sweet memories cling to her name,
Those who loved her in life sincerely,
Still love her in death just the same.

FANCY PRICES FOR GOOD COLTS SARATOGA SALE

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y., Aug. 9.—A pretty brown colt, whose father is Sickle, only once out of the money in 10 starts and the sire of such famed winners as Stagehand, Brevity, Reaping Reward and Cravat, holds the spotlight as the "Glamor Boy" of this year's Saratoga sales.

For the younger, who may not be fast enough to beat selling plater, brought the highest price of last night's sales and of the meeting.

He went for $18,000, first to Mrs. Ethel V. Mars of the Milky Way stables, and then to the Brookmeade stable.

When it was announced that Mrs. Mars had purchased the colt, Hugh Fontaine, trainer for Brookmeade, said he had bid the $18,000 and was entitled to the colt. Roy Waldron, acting for Mrs. Mars, readily gave up the animal.

That was one item that sent the yearling sales to a new peak for the night. Sixty head from several stables sold for a total of $128,475—an average of $2,141, quite a jump from the modest $741 average the first night of the sales.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Aave Castilloux of Montreal, Canadian lightweight boxing champion, took a one-sided eight-round decision from Ronnie Beaudine in the main bout of a card here Thursday night. Castilloux weighed 136 pounds, Beaudine 139.

Kerr and Snead Lead Qualifiers In Ontario Open

FORT ERIE, Ont., Aug. 9. — Bill Kerr, stocky professional of the Toronto Hunt club, and Slammin' Sammy Snead, one of the United States outstanding golfers, shared the lead Thursday night at the halfway mark of the 18th annual Ontario open golf championship. Both carded 18-hole totals of 71, one under par.

Snead, the West Virginian longhitter now located at Shawnee-On-Delaware, Pa., was one of four Americans and 12 Canadians who managed to tour the course in less than 75. A score of under 75 was necessary to qualify.

Foremost American ever to compete in the Ontario open, Snead has been made favorite to take the title and continue the precedent-setting achievement of Henry Martell, of Edmonton, last year. Martell was the first amateur to win the Ontario open crown and if Snead wins he will be the first American to do so.

Funeral Rites For Reds Catcher

VISALIA, Calif., Aug. 9.—Amid floral tributes from baseball players and fans, funeral services were held Thursday for Willard Hershberger, Cincinnati Reds catcher, whose apparent despondency over his playing led to suicide last Saturday.

Hundreds of friends crowded the chapel for the services, conducted by the Woodlake Masonic Lodge and Rev. Ralph Doescher, pastor of Exeter Presbyterian church.

Teammates of the 29-year-old player sent a floral piece of gardenias, representing a baseball.

Vancouver Girl Sets New Record

KELOWNA, B.C., Aug. 9.—Jean Langdon, swimming for the Vancouver Swimming club, bettered the recognized world's record for the women's 50-yard breast stroke Thursday when she covered the distance in 34 and 4-5 seconds here.

The world mark is 35.9 seconds, held by Catherine Rawls at Miami, Florida. The existing Canadian record is 37 1-5 seconds.

The mark was made in a special exhibition at the regatta and swimming gala here, and was caught by seven watches.

Calgary After Softball Titles

CALGARY, Aug. 9.—Two Calgary teams will hit the road for provincial championship softball playoffs on Sunday. Dalroy Giants, winners over Calgary Knights of Pythias in the senior men's division, will play Welders at Edmonton, while Calgary Elks, winners over Calgary Tuxedo two straight in intermediate "A" division, will travel to Lethbridge.

Edmonton Buffaloes, losers in the first of a best of three series in the provincial ladies' finals, come to Calgary Sunday to oppose Chinooks.

Overlin Wins

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 9. — Ken Overlin of Decatur, Ill., recognized in several states as the world's middleweight champion, won a decision over Ben Brown at Atlanta Thursday night in a 12-round non-title bout refereed by Former Heavyweight Champion Jimmy Braddock. Overlin weighed 161½ and Brown 162.

Likes His Golf

POLAND SPRING, Me., Aug. 9.—When Ralph A. Kennedy of New York toured the Poland Spring golf course this week, it was the 2,069th course he has played in 30 years of golf. He has played in 41 states, eight provinces of Canada and seven other countries.

YOUNG EDMONTON LECTURER TELLS OF PARIS ESCAPE

Deeply impressed "by how quiet things are here" after the most harrowing experience in his life, Edward J. H. Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Greene of Edmonton and University of Alberta lecturer in modern languages, arrived home here Thursday, after spending 12 months in Paris as a student at the Sorbonne.

One in a civilian army of thousands who fled Paris by foot, bicycle, automobile and cart during the last few hours before the Germans took over the abandoned city on June 13, Mr. Greene had one experience after another before he was finally able to reach England from St. Jean de Luz by troopship. In London he was fortunate to pick up the single reservation remaining in the ticket office and so was able to sail for Canada.

The French collapse was due to two factors, he said. Fifth columnist activities and the congestion created on French roads and highways by terrified refugees sealed the doom of the French defence system.

Britain's cold resolve to win the war impressed Mr. Greene. He was more convinced of an ultimate British victory than ever after passing through Great Britain on his return. The only regret he has at leaving France is that his doctor's thesis, "The French Influence on T. S. Eliot," representing three years' effort, was left to the Nazis in a basement in Paris.

GOOD PRICES ARE REALIZED AT FUR SALE

With surprisingly good prices secured in view of war conditions prevailing, largest fur sale of the year here was held Wednesday and Thursday at the Edmonton Fur Auction Sales, Ltd., Donald H. Bain building.

More than 130,000 muskrats were disposed of, while in addition there was a large offering of lynx, mink, red fox and beaver.

Buyers from all parts of the continent were in attendance at the two-day auction.

Among the prominent fur merchants of the United States in attendance were Sol Goldman, Fred Ramstein and M. Rosenzweig, New York city.

The U. S. visitors were heavy purchasers.

Auction was conducted by William Levine of Edmonton.

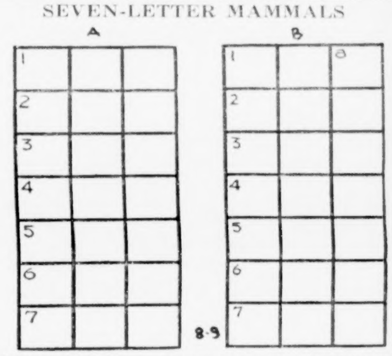

Couple Injured When Auto Hits Subway Girder

A. M. Hynd, 9508 76 avenue, and his wife were injured when their car struck a base girder on the 109 street subway at 1 p.m. Thursday night. They were taken to the General hospital, where they were attended by Dr. F. A. Keillor. Mr. Hynd was released later in the night after being treated for minor facial cuts. Condition of Mrs. Hynd was not serious. Police were without details of the accident Friday morning and were conducting an investigation.

Modern Puzzles

BY GERALD L. KAUFMAN

SEVEN-LETTER MAMMALS

In A, all the 3-letter words are mammals, while the 7-letter word reading from 1-down, is a little pachyderm about the size of a hog.

In B, 1-across, 2-across, 3-across, and 7-across, are all mammals. 4-across is an insect, 5-across is a reptile, 6-across is a bird, 8-down is a kind of a horse in 7 letters, but if you take away the INSECT right in the middle (4-across) you'll have a 6-letter mammal something like a civet.

The top word in A (1-across) is the same as the bottom word in B (7-across). No other words are duplicated.

Solution tomorrow.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PROBLEM, STRIP-WORD PUZZLE: 1. SPATS. 2. SCARF. 3. STUDS. 4. PANTS. 5. KILTS.

The two other words, which you were not expected to find, are PALLA and TALMA.

PLANS ADVANCE FOR RECRUITING OF FUSILIERS

Other City Battalions Are To Contribute Men To C.A.S.F. Unit

Preparations are being rapidly advanced for the recruiting of the Edmonton Fusiliers, C.A.S.F., which will commence on Aug. 18, according to Lt. Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., area commandant. Prior to actual recruiting a great deal of grade work can be and is being done.

The Edmonton Fusiliers (M.G.) of the N.P.A.M. will contribute headquarters company of the regiment, while the 2nd Battalion Edmonton Regiment and the 19th Alberta Dragoons each will contribute half a company.

Lieut. Col. Harcus Strachan, V.C., M.C., has been appointed officer commanding the battalion, which will have its headquarters at the Prince of Wales Armory.

Lt. Col. Strachan was at the Prince of Wales Armory Friday, interviewing officers and men, and attending to preliminary details of organization. He is expected to remain here until the completion of full regiment starts on Aug. 18.

OFFICERS VOLUNTEER

A large number of officers of the Edmonton units which will contribute to the new battalion, the 154th regiment, have volunteered for active service and Lt. Col. Strachan will make his selection from this source. It is expected that a large number of other ranks of the contributing units also will volunteer in large numbers.

Announcement from Calgary that the 13th Field Company Royal Canadian Engineers of the non-permanent active militia, would be mobilized to full war time strength of six officers and 256 other ranks has interest for Edmontonians for all the officer commanding appointed is Major Stanley Davies, M.C.

Major Davies, in the World War served with the 49th Battalion, joined the battalion after the "June Show" in Sanctuary Wood, as a lieutenant. He subsequently rose to the rank of captain and to command a company and in the latter stages of the war served as a staff captain of the 7th Canadian Infantry Brigade. He won the Military Cross and bar for conspicuous gallantry in action.

He is a well known consulting petroleum engineer and geologist.

Major Davies will relinquish his post as managing director of the Valley Gas company to devote his full time to military matters.

EQUIPMENT ARRIVES

His slate of officers, subject to confirmation, will include Captain J. H. Ross, formerly of the supply and ordnance officer as second in command; Lt. F. W. Brunsden, secretary of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture; Lt. James Young, Calgary synthetic chemist, and Lt. Henry Stevens Guiller, plant superintendent for the Royalite Oil company, who has volunteered to be in charge of a special Turner Valley oil section.

Announcement has been made that equipment for the South Alberta regiment (31st Batt. C.E.F.) has arrived and is in the process of being issued under direction of Capt. Walter Hunter, quartermaster of the regiment.

Each man, according to C.A.S.F. regulations, receives many articles of equipment. These are web anklets, cap badges, shoulder badges, kit bags, serge blouses, serge trousers, anklets, ankle boots, waterproof capes, waterproof sheets, button sticks, identity discs, housewife, pull through, boot polishing brush, clothes brush, shaving brush, tooth brush, mess tins, canteen, cup, knife, fork, spoon, winter cap, melton cloth cap, balaclava, woollen drawers, identity disc, web cord, field service dressings, forms, webbing, greatcoat, holdall, housewife, jersey, sweater, jacket, clasp and knife, knapsack, service cap, trousers, tie.

In addition there are: Water bottle, mess tin, haversack, pack, bayonet, frog, ration bags, Bren gun carrier, anti-gas equipment, anti-gas blouses, trousers, overshoes, service trousers, razor, flannel shirts, khaki trousers, razor, flannel shirts, khaki drill shirts, socks, boots, ankle boots, canvas shoes, socks, tabs, hand towels.

Other items to be remembered by the soldier are: Pull through, entrenching tool head, braces, cartridge carrier, waist belt, carrier, mess tin cover, steel helmet, rifle sling, cartridge pouches, gas cape, gas helmet, respirator and acaboard, oil bottle, jersey, through for cleaning rifle, jackknife, pull through for cleaning rifle, jackknife and lanyard.

Elk Point Man Dies Of Hurts As Horse Bolts

Thrown off a horse he was driving and hurled a considerable distance when the animal plunged into a wire fence accidentally, Joseph Peter Ludwigson, 60, died from injuries in Elk Point hospital on Wednesday last, according to word received at R.C.M.P. headquarters here from the St. Paul detachment.

The fence where the man was fatally injured is on the farm of Joe Block of Rose Lake.

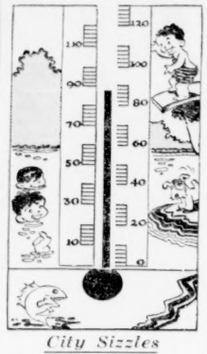

An inquest is to be held Saturday at Whitney Lake school. Further details are expected from Edmonton subdivision headquarters of the R.C.M.P. here.

Hot-o-Meter

City Sizzles

The weather man finally did it! He broke the existing city heat record for this year, when at 3 p.m. Thursday he let the mercury soar to the 90 degree mark, one of the previous high of 87 registered July 3. Indications Friday were that he is out for another new record, for, with an official forecast of "continued warm" the temperature was 70 above at 8:30 a.m.

Overnight low was 47 above, while average for the day was 68 above, as compared with 60 above for the year. Skies continued clear, and only a slight breeze prevailed.

In the near north strong southwest winds and partly cloudy skies were reported in the Peace River district, while light south west winds and clear skies were reported in the Athabasca region.

TRAVELLERS TO ASSIST IN WORK OF REGISTRATION

The Associated Canadian Travellers, association of commercial travellers, has requested all employers to allow their travelling representatives to be withdrawn from business on August 19, 20 and 21 to assist in the registration there.

Feeling that this registration is something of an emergency, and that a really large body of competent men is required to look over the application, has written on behalf of its members, to every larger employers of commercial travellers urging that they release their men's time for the three days.

Besides appealing to employers, the travellers are asking buyers and retail merchants to arrange their purchases during the week of August 12 to 17 in order to release the travelling representatives for this national service.

The need for volunteer assistants is great as authorities agree it will take 3 minutes to register each individual, and with a possible 200 persons working every hour each booth could be able to register about 1,200 persons. There will likely be about three times as many people registering as vote at an ordinary election.

REGISTRATION IS NECESSARY TO HOLD JOBS

Cards Must Be Produced By Employees; Fines Are Provided

Nobody of 16 years or more, having failed to register during national registration Aug. 19, 20 and 21, may hold a job in Canada. This, it was said authoritatively today, is the effect of regulations contained in an order-in-council printed in the latest extra edition of The Canada Gazette.

The order-in-council decrees a $200 fine for any employer who, after Aug. 21, employs or continues in his employment, any person required to register who fails to register and has failed to do so.

MUST SHOW CARDS

The order-in-council also directs that employers, when hiring anybody after the last date of registration, must require new employees of 16 or more years to produce their registration cards.

Every employer must also require employees to produce, after August 21, their registration cards. Those who break the regulations by failing to register must be reported to the nearest police authority.

Other dates than August 19, 20 and 21 will be announced for registration in the North West Territories, the sparseness of the population in the territories and the great distances to be covered making it virtually impossible to conduct registration there in three days.

Members of those units of the non-permanent active militia in training camps at the time of registration will not have to leave camps to register. Special registration booths will be set up in the camps, like those in religious institutions and business and industrial plants.

"RACE" QUESTION

The question concerning "race" in the registration questionnaire has caused so much confusion that an unofficial clarification has been issued.

It is explained that the question really means "racial origin." There is no Canadian race as yet, it is said. It takes a few thousand years to develop that.

The registration question of race aims at information emphasized in the explanation, emphasizing that the father's nationality is the determining factor in describing children resulting from the marriage of people of different racial origins.

Figures were not available Friday on the number of persons registered in Edmonton on Aug. 19, 20 and 21. Unofficially, however, it was estimated that the number was not great, as, for instance, in West Edmonton only 1,000 were carried out only at three centres on the first day, at the Legislature Building, the Administration Building and Normal Lyons Control Board.

CITY IS ACTIVE IN PURCHASES OF WAR SAVINGS

Edmonton is an active centre for sale of war savings certificates and stamps and Alberta is among the leading five provinces, according to E. P. Higgins, Ottawa, head of the employees' co-operative section of the war savings committee.

Mr. Higgins was a visitor in Edmonton Friday and had conference with R. E. Mercer, K.C., provincial chairman for certificate sales, and R. E. Staples and R. J. Dinning.

It is the hope of the government, he said, that the people of Canada will continue to buy the certificates during the war as a savings plan. Government pensioners, he said, have bought $4,000,000 worth of certificates and stamps. Besides helping the government, they are thus building themselves savings accounts.

Sales of war savings stamps through chartered banks passed the $212,000 mark at the beginning of August, Mr. Higgins said. Many Edmonton clerical and large business companies and corporations have arranged to sell stamps to their employees, he said.

It is the duty of the citizens, he said, to buy the certificates and stamps to help the government in the war effort.

14-Mile Section Of New Highway Will Be Built

Preparations are now underway for the Mundare-Vegreville highway contract, Mr. Kergerese of the department of highways in the east of the province, announced Friday.

The new road will be graded this year and pending completion, traffic will go over the existing highway.

In re-locating the road it will mean many vehicles instead of turning north at the east end of the national park, will continue on the same road to a point about two miles to the east of Mundare.

Bakery Fire

Damaged ceiling and walls resulted from a small fire on the premises of the Alberta Bakery, 11724 Jasper avenue, at about 2 p.m. Thursday. Cause of the fire has not yet been determined. Apparatus from No. 5 and No. 7 halls responded to the call. The fire was put out by a fireman, who was on duty in the bakery, M. Spector is the owner of the bakery.

ROTARY PLAN AID CHILDREN IS PROCEEDING

Forms circularized among members of the Edmonton Rotary Club last week to aid officials in determining the exact number of guest children from England that Rotarians here will be able to provide homes for are not all in as yet, according to a statement Friday by President Andrew McCulloch. As a result, application to government organizations supervising the bringing of the children to Canada will have to be delayed for possibly another week.

Under the plan outlined to members, the Edmonton club will make application for the care of guest children from England, stipulating that the children be those of members of Rotary Clubs in the British Isles.

PUBLIC WORKS MINISTER BUYS CRESCENT HOME

Purchase by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, of "Glencairn," 10010 Wellington Crescent, one of this city's most beautiful homes, was announced Friday.

While the purchase price was not disclosed, it is understood to be several thousand dollars.

The house was built in 1935 by H. G. Campbell, well known local business man. In the last three years it has been occupied by L. D. Byrne, technical adviser to the Alberta Social Credit Board and later by J. G. Nickerson, manager of the city branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

The residence is finished in stucco. It is a 10-room structure with a frontage of 120 feet. The site is on the high bank of the Saskatchewan and commands an excellent view of the North Saskatchewan river, the Mayfair Golf and Country Club and the University of Alberta.

The house is set on attractively decorated property.

In confirming purchase, Mr. Fallow declared that the residence which he had occupied at 11428 126 avenue had been sold and it was necessary for him to seek another home. He will take possession of the new home September 1.

Mr. Campbell will continue to live at his home at 12806 107 avenue.

HIT-RUN DRIVER HURTS CYCLIST BUT IS CHASED

A hit-and-run truck driver will be brought to the police station shortly to answer a charge of failing to return to the scene of an accident. Through the prompt work of witnesses, the license number of a truck that knocked down Roy Bradley, 9, 89 Street and 102 Street and Jasper avenue, Thursday afternoon, was secured.

Bradley was hurled from his bike by the truck as he rode west on Jasper avenue. The truck came from the south.

J. R. Hixon, 9970 109A avenue, and R. Lewis, 11412 89 street, witnessed the accident and followed the truck as the driver refused to stop at the scene of the accident. Bradley suffered two broken knees.

Varsity Plans Devote Support To War Effort

University officials here are preparing for the fullest possible support to Canada's war effort in the coming term. All male students attending classes this fall will be required to take military training, either in the Alberta contingent of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps or in a new training plan being organized now and being planned. Only those with past O.T.C. experience will be allowed to take the O.T.C. course.

Special attention will be paid to the training of men taking the new military science course, which will be open to students in all faculties, it was announced. Registration for the course will take place Sept. 24, and the training will probably start on the following day. Registration for all work begins Sept. 23.

Swine Club Has Field Day Here At Varsity Farm

Over 75 members of the Junior Swine Club of Edmonton and district and their parents held a field day at the University Stock Farm Friday. Program for the day included a tour of the farm and a practical insight into the swine problems on rural Alberta farms through talks and observations.

Peter Wyllie, district agriculturist and chairman of the club, presided at the event. Professors J. P. Sackville and J. E. Bowstead, of the animal husbandry staff of the University of Alberta, were in charge of activities at the Farm.

Late in the afternoon the group paraded around one of the city's packing plants and then left for home, will return to their homes in the district southwest of the city.
